TRAGIC ACCIDENT TO AERIAL CRAFTS

Dirigible and Aeroplane Collide at Vienna.

NINE OFFICERS DEAD

Mimic Warfare Results in Catastrophe That Startles the World—Were Thirteen Hundred Feet in the Air.

Vienna, June 20.—Nine burned and mutilated bodies, the splintered fragments of an aeroplane, and the charred remnants of a big dirigible balloon are the mute records of one of the most sensational disasters which has occurred since man learned to fly. The catastrophe, which resulted in the death of all concerned, nine officers and men, followed a mimic attack by the aeroplane on the dirigible at a great height during the Austrian maneuvers and served to show, more than any previous accidents to flying machines have done, the horrors that would be likely to attend aerial warfare.

The dirigible military balloon Koertling early today left Fischamend, 11 miles from Vienna, manned by Capt. Johann Hauswirth, in command, Lieut. Ernst Hofstetter, Lieut. Bruerr, Lieut. Haidenger, Corp. Hadima, Corp. Weber, and Engineer Kammerer.

At the elapse of half an hour a military biplane, with Lieut. Flatz and Lieut. Hoosta aboard, started in pursuit.

It was the intention of Capt. Hauswirth to take photographs of the movements of the troops below and then to join in the maneuvers. At the same time he was to keep out of range of any of the mosquito craft which might seek to attack him.

Sham Aerial Fight.

The news had gone abroad that something in the nature of a sham aerial fight would take place and at Koenigsburg, the scene of the engagement, a big crowd had gathered. Very quickly the smaller, but much speedier craft, overtook the big airship and then the spectators witnessed a thrilling sight.

As might a wasp bent on attacking some clumsy enemy, the aeroplane circled several times around the balloon, now darting close to her, and then away, always apparently steering off just in time to avoid an actual collision.

Meanwhile the balloon continued to rise until it was about 1,300 feet from the ground. The aeroplane at a still greater height maneuvered until it appeared to be nearly over the airship. Then it began its descent. It was the evident intention of the pilot of the aeroplane to take up a position directly above the dirigible, within striking distance, but owing either to a fatal miscalculation of distance or speed, the nose of the biplane struck the envelope of the airship and ripped it wide open.

Tremendous Explosion.

A tremendous explosion followed, the balloon burst into flames, which enveloped the biplane, and in a moment the wreckage began to drop, crashing at length like lead to the

SHARP PROSPERITY DEBATE IN SENATE

Subject Handled Both Pro and Con for Few Minutes

"DISASTROUS RESULTS"

Senator Smoot Predicts Dire Things if Increasing Imports and Decreasing Exports Continue—Democrats Stirred.

Washington, June 20.—Critics and friends of the administration today joined in a sharp ten-minute prosperity debate in the Senate. Senator Smoot held the tariff responsible for alarming conditions, while Senator Owen blamed three groups of financiers in New York.

Senator Smoot stirred Democratic leaders by predicting, on the basis of the treasury's statement of foreign trade during May, that if the present trend of business conditions did not change within the next few months, there would be "disastrous results." He said the report showed that May imports increased $29,900,000 and exports decreased $33,000,000 over May, 1913. He read newspaper clippings of the recent large gold shipments to Europe.

Senator Hollis, making the first reply for the Democrats, said foreign distrust of American stocks arising from the collapse of the New Haven and of the St. Louis and San Francisco railroads, had resulted in American stocks being turned back on this country and the necessity of the sending of gold to Europe in return.

Senator Thomas suggested that some European country must have profited by the business America was losing, but Senator Smoot responded that the treasury report did not enter into that question. Senator Smoot added he was in favor of American labor geting the benefit of the business rather than foreign labor.

Senator Thomas suggested European laborers were crowding every ship to America to escape the prosperity aboard—the Utah senator was picturing.

In the Hands of the Law.

Senator Owen advanced the statement that three groups of men with headquarters in New York were responsible ofr present conditions. He said these men controlled $22,000,000,000—practically all the railroads and every big industry in the country.

"These men can forbid the railroads to buy rails, or buy steel cars or to buy frogs and switches or buy lumber or to buy cross-ties. These men can put out of employment thousands upon thousands of men, these men can restrict credits in every district, where a Representative is to be elected this fall and in every State where a senator is to be elected. These men have it in their hands to send down to defeat any candidate, be he Democrat, Progressive or Republican, who does not sympathize with them."

Senator Smoot insisted that this had nothing to do with the decrease of exports or the increase of imports.

The debate was cut short by a call for the regular business of the day.

DEMOCRATS URGED TO REMEMBER VOWS

Senator Owen Introduces Four Drastic Measures

WANTS THEM PASSED

Reminds Party of Pledges Made to the Public That Corruption, Fraud and Machine Rule Would be Driven Out.

Washington, June 20.—Senator Owen today called upon his Democratic colleagues in the Senate to remember the plank in the party platform calling for the "extermination of corruption, fraud and machine rule in American politics," and offered four bills designed, he said, to bring about the needed reforms.

"If," he said, "the Democratic party leaves the country under the machine rule system, with the door open to fraudulent practices in nominating Senators and Congressmen, after its solemn promise to the people, it undoubtedly will receive severe condemnation.

"No Senator would venture to say he thought it wise to permit corruption in our election machinery," said Senator Owen. "But," he continued, "no individual seems to feel charged with the responsibility of preparing the necessary measure and urging its passage. I propose, therefore, a resolution charging the committee on privileges and elections with this duty in the hope that it may meet with sympathetic co-operation."

Senator Owen explained that one of his bills was designed to prevent unlimited campaign contributions from individuals; the second provides for a government publicity pamptlet to be issued at government expense and delivered to every citizen in which candidates for Federal office would have an opportunity to explain his views. The other measure would legalize the use of the preferential ballot in making nominations for the Senate and the House, and the last would define corrupt practices in connection with campaigns.

Senator Owen declared Congress should follow President Wilson's advice and provide for the nomination of candidates for the Presidency and Vice Presidency, by the preferential primary and should lay down fundamental rules for the States in this connection.

He suggested the State primaries for President, Senate and House take place the second Tuesday in June, beginning in 1916, and the National conventions authorized to meet within 30 days thereafter, solely to ratify the primaries and write the platforms. This convention, he said, should consist of nominees for Senate and House and hold-over Senators not defeated in primaries.

Exeter, N. H., June 20.—Henry H. Folsom, a Boston lawyer, was found dead today with a bullet in his head on the road between here and New Market. His wife was standing over the body with a revolver in her hand, according to the police, and was arrested. "I did it because I loved him," she is alleged to have told the police.

"YLVIA WINS!" CRY THE SUFFRAGETTES; ASQUITH AT LAST GRANTS THEM HEARING

1-SYLVIA PANKHURST 2-PREMIER ASQUITH 3-SUFFRAGETTE BANNER

London, June 20.—Premier Asquith capitulated to the suffragettes. He consented to receive a deputation of East End working women at his official residence in Dowling street. Sylvia Pankhurst's attempt to carry out her threat of a hunger strike at the entrance to the House of Commons until the Premier yielded to the demands that he listen to a delegation of women was largely responsible for the Prime Minister's decision. The victory was a distinct one, because Sylvia Pankhurst was arrested about a week ago for attempting to lead a procession of East End women to Westminster to demand the audience which Mr. Asquith had steadfastly refused.

BREACH IN REBEL RANKS WIDENING

Little Hope for Renewal of Former Relations

BETWEEN TWO CHIEFS

Reports That Villa-Carranza Break Was a Thing of the Past Proved Erroneous—Villa Forces His Way South

Eagle Pass, Texas, June 20.—The breach between Villa and Carranza apparently was widening on Friday, according to travelers from Mexico who arrived here today. Early Friday, according to the travelers, a statement was issued from Carranza's headquarters saying the difficulty with General Villa was of a minor nature and would surely be sufficiently adjusted but a few hours later it was announced that General Felipe Angeles, acting secretary of war, had been deposed from the position by General Carranza for disobedience.

According to stories told by the travelers arriving at the border when Villa tendered his resignation as a commander of the army of the center, it was accepted unconditionally by General Carranza. The latter, however, it was said, asked that before he turned over the command, Villa recommend a successor. This message, it was said, was answered by a communication from 15 generals in Villa's army declaring that they declined to allow their chief to be supplanted. General Carranza then issued a peremptory order, it was said, for General Angeles to come immediately to Saltillo. This order Angeles was said to have ignored and this incident was said to have formed the basis of his dismissal from the temporary cabinet for insubordination.

The news of Angeles' dismissal followed closely on the report received at Saltillo that General Manuel Chao had been executed by order of General Villa. Chao always was a favorite of Carranza, and was formerly governor of Chihuahua. About May 1, when Villa was in Juarez, it was reported along the border he received a carelessly worded letter from Chao. It was said that Villa immediately ordered a special train sent to Chihuahua, placed Chao under arrest and gave orders for his execution. A friend of Chao, it is said, informed Carranza of the order. The latter was then declared to have sent for Villa and representing that such a proceeding would have an international effect and ordered Chao's release. It was said then that Chao was needed to take the field in the Saltillo campaign. However, his old brigade was split among those of other commanders and he found himself a general without command.

Ygleslas Calderon left Saltillo Friday for Washington via Laredo. It was reported, to assume an important position. He was accompanied by Juan Bezda, one of Carranza's confidential secretaries, and Fernando Ramos, who is well known to President Wilson and Secretary Bryan.

WILSON AND BRYAN STILL CONFIDENT

Of the Success of Mediation at Niagara Falls

OUTLOOK IS BRIGHTER

Break Between Villa and Carranza Said to Have Made Break in Deadlock at Niagara Falls Possible—Conference.

Washington, June 20.—President Wilson today authorized the statement that the outlook for the success of mediation in the Mexican situation was more hopeful than ever. He made known his attitude in view of his conference last night with one of the South American mediators, Dr. Romulo S. Naon, the Argentine minister, who came to Washington to consult with the President and Secretary Bryan.

Secretary Bryan also declared that hopes for success of mediation were by no means blasted despite the apparent diplomatic deadlock at Niagara Falls, and the President and Secretary of State were supported in this view by Minister Naon, when he returned to Niagara Falls with the declaration that he never had been more confident of the success of mediation.

Officials here would give no formal explanation of the basis of their hopes, but indicated that joint mediation deliberations would be resumed Monday. In this view they were upheld by actual developments. Mr. Naon's return to Niagara Falls having resulted in postponement of the next joint conference until Monday.

Developments in the ranks of the Constitutionalists, chiefly the break between Gen. Villa and Gen. Carranza, were reported here to have opened the way for a break in the mediation deadlock. President Wilson is declared to have explained thoroughly to Mr. Naon that the reason for the United States' insistence upon the selection of a man for provisional president of Mexico who would be acceptable to the Constitutionalists, that the revolt against the present form of government in Mexico never could be stemmed unless there were actual reform.

Opportunity Knocking.

The United States, it was said, took the position that the opportunity was presented for giving all Mexicans a chance for advancement and that every leader could be brought to reason on this basis. If the government of Mexico should not be re-organized now, it was argued that bloodshed and the horrors of war would continue until such re-organization is accomplished. Gen. Huerta was declared to be cognizant of this situation and willing to yield to the common enemy should personal ambitions be waived. Gen. Carranza also was reported to be willing to accept a provisional government that would supervise a constitutional election and even Gen. Villa, the military power in the revolution, was said to be willing to substitute reason for bullets. Involved in such a settlement, it was pointed out would be the business interests of citizens of other nations.

What the United States insists upon, it is now reported, is that the provisional government of Mexico to succeed the Huerta regime shall be dominated by recognized representatives of reform.

Allied with them in the provisional government would be men representing the cientificos of the Republic. That the internal conflict could be stayed, pending an effort to reorganize the government of Mexico on such a basis and that Gen. Huerta's delegates at Niagara Falls with assurances of co-operation from responsible leaders of the revolutionists, could be induced to yield to the position of the United States in the crisis, was believed in official quarters here to be probable.

LITTLE HOPE FOR ENTOMBED MINERS

Ninety-Four Bodies Have Been Recovered So Far

RESCUE WORK DELAYED

Fire Which Broke Out in the Shaft of Mine Stops Workers, But is Put Out—Over Hundred Remain in the Mine.

Lethbridge, Alberta, June 20.—The bodies of 94 of the 197 miners entombed when an explosion yesterday wrecked the inner workings of mine No. 20 of the Hill Crest, Alberta, collieries, Ltd., tonight had been brought to the surface. All hope of rescuing alive any of the remaining 103 members of the crew that entered the mine yesterday had been abandoned.

Under the direction of government experts the work of rescue went rapidly forward today and at nightfall the rescuers had reached a point several hundred feet into the mine. The work was retarded somewhat by a fire that broke out today, but was only temporarily delayed. That the explosion was due to the forming of gases in the lower levels of the mine generally has been accepted.

Investigation preliminary to the formal opening of the inquiry into the cause of the disaster has been started by government officials.

Practically the entire male population of the little mining camp was wiped out by the disaster.

YET ANOTHER WEEK OF PROCEEDINGS

Mediation Conference Will Be Prolonged

SPIRIT OF OPTIMISM

Yesterday's Full Conference Postponed Until Monday—Mediators Confident That Sessions Will Be Successful.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 20.—Instead of adjourning abrupfly as expected, the mediation proceedings will be prolonged perhaps for another week. The change was brought about as a result of the visit of Minister Naon, of Argentina, to Washington, where he conferred with President Wilson and Secretary Bryan. Dr. Naon brought back a spirit of optimism and some new ideas which he imparted to Ambassador Dagama, of Brazil, and Minister Suarez, of Chile. It was announced after their talk that there would be no conferences until Monday. The Argentine envoy reiterated the hopefulness he expressed earlier in the day.

The determination reached is to keep the mediation board from formal adjournment though there may be a recess in another week or so, while the search is continued for persons eligible, according to the ideas set forh in he conferences, for provisional presiden of Mexico.

Although no definite plan has been framed, all parties expressed a wish to make renewed effort to effect a compromise.

There is every reason to believe that the friction between Carranza and Villa and the report that General Huerta intended to retire in favor of Pedro Lascurain affected the mediators in the irregular decision.

Possibility of Developments.

The possibility of developments in Mexico in the immediate future which migh change the entire aspect of the problem here also has been taken into consideration.

Dr. Naon's ideas, it is believed have not crystalized into a definite proposal. The impression here is that his chief object in professing optimism is to prevent the deadlock between the Americans and Mexicans from precipitately ending the negotiations.

The American view is best reflected by the statement of President Wilson that "the outlook is more hopeful."

The view of the Huerta government as expressed by Mr. Rabasa is that the Mexican delegation will not take the initiative if the conference is to break up. Dr. Naon summed up the situation from the mediators' point o fview when he predicted that the negotiations would be continued another two weeks.

ASQUITH TALKS WITH SIX WORKING WOMEN

Agrees With Delegation on Some Points

Declares That Militant Tactics Delaying the Ballot for Women—Must Have Equal Power With Men if Anything.

London, June 20.—Premier Asquith today fulfilled his promise to receive a deputation of suffragettes. A party of six working women, members of Miss Sylvia Pankhurst's East End Federation, visited the Prinme Minister at his residence. The proceedings were orderly except for a little roughness on the part of some workmen who had "come to see that their women got fair play."

The women urged the cause of woman suffrage from their special point of view. Miss Pankhurst was not present as Mr. Asquith had insisted that the deputation must be composed of genuine working women.

The Premier welcomed the members of the deputation as representatives of "an association which dissociated itself from the criminal methods of those who have done so much to damage and put back the cause of women."

Mr. Asquith argued that if every woman over 20 years of age possessed the vote they would still find legislative problems exceedingly difficult of solution in the same way as the men had found them. He agreed with the deputation that if the franchise were given to women it should be granted on the same terms as it was given to men.

The Premier explained that, while it had become necessary to suppress the organized violence of the militant suffragists the government had no desire to interfere with free speech or the proper organization of opinion.

LEGALIZED PRIMARY ABSOLUTE NECESSITY

If Democratic Party is to Be Saved, Says Gudger

Tenth District Congressman and Ed W. Pharr, of Charlotte, Think Sentiment in State is for State-wide Primary.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Washington, D. C., June 20.—Two prominent North Carolinians came out strong for State-wide legalized primaries in North Carolina today and declared that there was an overwhelming sentiment in the State for such a plan. The gentlemen in question were Representative James M. Gudger, Jr., and Ed W. Pharr, a prominent young lawyer of Charlotte and the man who managed Representative Webb's campaign in Mecklenburg county.

Representative Gudger declared that a primary law in North Carolina such as is advocated by President Wilson is not only a necessity but that it is absolutely necessary to save the Democratic party.

"I favor a State-wide legalized primary for all political parties on the same day," said the Tenth district congressman. "I favored this plan in 1913 for the Page bill. I regard the enactment of a primary law an absolute necessity to save the Democratic party."

"I am in favor of a State-wide legalized primary for all officers," said Mr. Pharr before leaving for New York. "There is an overwhelming sentiment in North Carolina for such a plan of selecting candidates. Those opposed to the primary are opposed to the rule of the people. The primary system is for the people's rule and it is the policy advocated by Woodrow Wilson, one of the greatest

INVITATION TO SOUTH CAROLINA WITHDRAWN

Palmetto State Cannot Participate in Maneuvres

War Department Takes Action After Failure of State Militia to Conform to Regulations of the Dick Law.

Washington, June 20.—The invitation extended by the War Department to Governor Blease, of South Carolina, to have the organized militia of that State participate in the maneuver camp to be held in Augusta, Ga., next month, has been withdrawn because of the failure of the South Carolina militia to meet the requirements of the Dick Militia law as construed by the law officers of the department.

The attention of Governor Blease some months ago was called by the War Department to the shortcomings of the South Carolina militia in the matter of missing equipment and shortage of men in the various grades. The result was some spirited correspondence between the Governor and the Secretary of War. Finally Governor Blease undertook to meet the requirements of the department.

Trouble later arose between the Governor and the Secretary of War over the location of the proposed joint encampment on the Isle of Palms, South Carolina. Secretary Garrison finally preemptorily ordered this camp to Augusta, Ga. Since then reports from the inspection officers of the War Department have disclosed the fact that the South Carolina militia still is deficient in the various matters complained of originally and Secretary Garrison therefore has felt obliged to withdraw the department's invitation to participate in the maneuver camp to be held in Augusta.

So far South Carolina is the only Southern State which will be excluded from the maneuvers on this account.

REDUCED INTERSTATE RATES NOW IN EFFECT

From Western Points and Pittsburg Zone

New Rates Agreed Upon by the Railroads and the Corporation Commission and Adopted by the Legislature.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., June 20.—The reduced inter-State freight rates into North Carolina from western points and from the Pittsburg zone in the East, that were fixed through the compromise settlement between the railroads and the State authorities and approved by the Legislature and the Inter-State Commerce Commission, became operative today, applying to all freights originating today. These reductions, it will be remembered, are expected to work out savings to North Carolina shippers aggregating two million dollars a year.

Also new and reduced rates on furniture to the West become effective today. The western and Pittsburg rates, it will be remembered, were worked out in conferences between the railroad officials and the members of the Corporation Commission at Old Point Comfort and were later accepted in the special session of the Legislature.

Lowry and Mills Waive Examination.

In the police court this morning the two alleged burglars, young Fulton Lowery and Frank Mills, waived preliminary examination and were sent to the county jail to await in cells their trial for the wholesale burglaries committed last Sunday night. No other arrests have been made for the Sunday night burglary and none have been made for the robbery of the Carolina Hardware Company's store Wednesday night.

Tyrus Raymond is In Toils of Law

WHIPPED A BUTCHER WHOM HE ALLEGED INSULTED MRS. COBB.

Detroit, Mich., June 20.—Tyrus R. Cobb, centerfielder of the Detroit American League baseball club, was arrested tonight in the butcher shop of W. L. Carpenter, on Hamilton boulevard, while engaging in a fist fight with Harold Harding, 20 years old, one of Carpenter's employes. Harding told the police Cobb assaulted him after the ball player had drawn a revolver on the proprietor. Carpenter confirmed the charge and said Cobb attacked Harding when the latter attempted to interfere.

Cobb was taken to the Bethune avenue police station and held pending an investigation. Several friends offered to furnish bail for his release, but even if Cobb is allowed his liberty he will not be able to play ball for several days. He broke his right thumb during the scuffle with Harding.

The only explanation which could e obtained from the ball player was that the butcher insulted Mrs. Cobb. Carpenter denied the charge, but admitted that Cobb rushed into the butcher shop, made the allegation and then started trouble.

A fish Mrs. Cobb purchased from Carpenter earlier in the day is believed to be responsible for the affair. Cobb claimed tonight his wife told the butcher the purchase was not satisfactory and during words which followed Carpenter insulted her. Cobb said he went to the butcher shop to demand an apology from the proprietor.

Manager Chance Files Injunction.

TO PREVENT ALBERT SCHULTZ FROM PLAYING WITH FEDERALS.

Chicago, June 20.—Application for an injunction to restrain Albert Schulz, the pitcher who left the New York Americans for the Buffalo Federals from playing with other than the New York club was filed here today and the hearing was set by the court for Monday.

Judge Charles M. Foell, in Superior court, refused to issue an injunction immediately, instructing counsel to first obtain service. Deputy sheriffs were unable to locate the pitcher. It was reported he was sent to Buffalo, supposedly to evade service.

This is the third suit of the kind to come before Judge Foell. He ruled that George H. Johnson, who jumped from the Cincinnati Nationals to the Kansas City Federals, can play only with the former club. The case of Fred Blanding, who left the Cleveland Americans for the Kansas City Federal team and then returned to Cleveland, is pneding.

INFANTRY TAKES UP DOWNING Y. M. C. A.

Brigade Beat Giants and Took Third Place.

Largest Crowd of the Season Saw City Leaguers Play Off a Double Tie and Cut Down the Strong Y. M. C. A.

The largest crowd of the season saw the W. L. I. trim the Y. M. C. A. by a score of five to three, and the Boys' Brigade put it over the Giants 13 to 3, in the regular Saturday double-header of the City League at Sunset Park yesterday afternoon.

In the opening contest, Shaw and Bruni were the opposing slab artists and both pitched gilt edge ball, although Bruni was wild, this probably costing him the game. Shaw had plenty of curves and good speed, fanning seven men and allowing seven scattered hits. Bruni was touched for safeties six times and eight men were mystified by his brand of delivery.

The features of the game was the fielding of Taylor, who played all over the lot, robbing men of at least three singles, and the batting of Thompson, who got two long doubles at crucial moments.

The second game was a walk-over for the Brigade. Charlie Burnett made his initial appearance in the box, and pitched a good game. Only one single was secured off his delivery, and nine men swung three times at his curves. Rivenbark was wild and was hit at critical times. He was relieved by Davis in the seventh. Kite was forced to retire in the fifth inning on account of a ball breaking his finger. Mr. Montz again handled the indicator and gave universal satisfaction.

First Game.

First inning, W. L. I.—Hines was safe on error of first. Shaw struck out. Hines stole second and third and scored on Boswell's sacrifice fly. Terry singled to second. Duls walked. Orrell struck out. One run, one hit.

Second inning, W. L. I.—Smith flied to short on a pretty running catch by Taylor. Bell mosied, also Shaw. Hines struck out. Shaw hit to short, who threw late in home, Bell scoring. Shaw was out at third. One run, no hits.

Third inning, Y. M. C. A.—Bruni was out to first unassisted. Buck was safe on an error of short. Taylor struck out. Thompson safe on error of first, Buck scoring. Fillyaw singled and Lewis went out at first. One run, one hit.

Fifth inning, Y. M. C. A.—Bruni safe on error of third. Buck and Taylor struck out. Thompson doubled to left, scoring Bruni. Fillyaw got an infield hit and Thompson scored when short threw over first, Fillyaw taking second. Lewis struck out. Two runs, two hits.

Fifth inning, W. L. I.—Terry walked. Duls flied to third. Orrell singled. Smith was safe on error of second, Terry scoring. Bell was out short to first. Shaw singled, scoring Orrell and Smith. Three runs, two hits.

Second Game.

First inning, Giants—Shepard safe an error of short, taking second on the overthrow of first, goes to third on wild pitch and scored on Davis single. Kite flies to short, who doubles Davis at first. One run, one hit.

Second inning, Boys' Brigade—Wilson single. Huhn sacrifices. Bergen safe on error first. Litgen flies to left. Wilson scores on Register's out. One run, one hit.

Third inning, Boys'Brigade—Branch singled and went to third on wild pitch, and scored on Burnett's grounder to short. Burnett stole second and took third on Shepard's out. Burnett scored on C. Burnett's bunt, both safe. Two runs, one hit.

Fifth inning, Boys' Brigade—R. Burnett singled and went to second on error and scored on Shepard's two-bagger. Shepard stole third and scored on C. Burnett's sacrifice fly. Wilson walked. Huhn out to first unassisted. Bergen and Litgen walked and H. Register went out at first, two runs, two hits.

Fifth inning, Giants—Bethea walked. Palmgren struck out. Hines walked, and Bethea scored on a wild pitch. Cashwell safe on fielder's choice Hines scoring. Shepard struk out. Sellers was out, second to first. Two runs, no hits.

Sixth inning, Boys' Brigade—Branch singled. R. Burnett hit by pitcher. Shepard walked. Branch scored on Burnett's grounder. R. Burnett and Shepard scored on a wild pitch. Wilson was safe on error of third. Huhn struck out. Bergen safe on fielder's choice. C. Burnett out at third. Litgen walked. Register got an infield hit, scoring Bergen and Litgen. Branch was safe on error of right, H. Register scoring. R. Burnett safe on error of first. Shepard flied to right. Eight runs, two hits.

"AMERICA" NAME OF WANAMAKER FLYING BOAT.

Flying Boat of Same Name Won International Race in 1910 and 11.

New York, June 20.—In a cablegram received today from Rodman Wanamaker, who is in Europe, Mr. Wanamaker gives the name "America" for his flying boat now being completed at Hammondsport, N. Y., for the flight across the Atlantic.

This name was welcomed by the officials of the Aero Club of America, for "America" was the name of the balloon with which Messrs. Edward W. Hix and Alan R. Hawley won the international balloon races in 1909 and 1910.

Cablegrams have been sent by the Aero Club to the aero clubs of England, Spain and Portugal advising of the departure for Europe of Messrs. Sumner R. Hollander and J. Langsing Callan, who will establish supply stations at the Azores and Vigo, Spain, where it is proposed the trans-Atlantic flyer shall stop.

Bain, of Philadelphia, 5-7, 6-4, 6-1. Bain, he tournament winner, earned the honor of challenging Carter in the singles.

When play closed yesterday J. K. Orr, Jr., of Atlanta, led Bain by two sets to one, but today Orr was forced to default on account of illness.

DELGADO AGAIN DOWNS EAST WILMINGTON BOYS.

Took Yesterday's Game at Delgado by Decisive Score.

In a game bristling with spectacular fielding and batting stunts, the Delgado Demons again administered a crushing defeat to the East Wilmington baseball team yesterday afternoon on the Delgado diamond, the score at the finish showing up nine to four in favor of the home team.

The features of the game were the spectacular batting of Mathews and Caff, the former mauling out a four base clout when it counted, as well as three two-baggers at opportune moments.

Batteries: Delgado, Matthews and Watts; East Wilmington, Jones and Buck.

WINS METROPOLITAN TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP.

Forest Hills, N. Y., June 20.—R. Lindlay Murray, the young Leland Stanford University player, won the metropolitan singles tennis championships here today from the veteran, F. B. Alexander, 6-8, 7-5, 7-5, 6-4. This is the first time the title has been captured by any other than an Eastern player. Alexander held the title in 1905, 1906 and 1907.

Dean Mathy and G. M. Chuch, the Princeton players, won the doubles championships.

To Combat the Strong Invasion by the Federals.

IS ALMOST ASSURED

This the Concensus of Opinion After Meetings of National Commission With Club Presidents.

New York, June 20.—That there will be a third major league in organized baseball with all the privileges that the prefix "major" implies, operating after the close of the present season, is almost assured. After a session here in which all the presidents of the National League took part the National Commission today virtually decided that a third major league was necessary to combat the invasion of the Federal League.

Governor Tener, of Pennsylvania, in whom was entrusted the entire confidence of the National League club owners, August Hermann, of Cincinnati, the presiding official, and President Ban B. Johnson, of the American League, comprising the National Commission which is the high court in organized baseball, were in a receptive mood when a delegation from the International League called upon them. The International delegates were President Barrow, J. J. McCaffery, Toronto; Jack Dunn, Baltimore, and J. J. Stein, Buffalo.

Two propositions were submitted by the commitee. One of hese was a reques for financial assisance for some of he clubs and the other that the draft privilege of the major leagues be eliminated so that the International organization could retain or sell its players instead of having them taken at the waiver figures. The latter plan seemed the more feasible to the members of the commission and the proposition to President Johnson to form a new major league to be composed of four clubs from each the International League and American Association found immediate favor.

President Barrow, spokesman of the party, announced after the quartette emerged from the meeting oom that the national committee had considered their request favorably and a final answer would be given within ten days.

Later on Ban Johnson verified this statement and went a step farther by saying:

"The plan to form a third major league is practically consummated." After the meeting Governor Tener said Messrs. Johnson and Herrmann would remain here until Monday to arrange several details for the completion of the plans.

None of those present at the meeting would consent to name the clubs which would be taken into the new oganisation but it was the general impression that these would be Baltimore, Buffalo, Newark and Toronto of the International, and Indianapolis, Cleveland, Milwaukee and either Louisville, Minneapolis or Columbus of the American Association.

Just what would become of the other clubs in these leagues was not even suggested, but it was thought that they might be fomed in a new minor league. Geographical difficulties could be eliminated by transferring franchises or otherwise.

That the new idea had met with general approval was apparent when some of the club owners got together after the conference and talked of a thre-cornered post-season series for the world's championship.

YALE ADDED ANOTHER.

Boston, June 20.—Yale added another victory over Harvard today, breaking the tie in the annual baseball series, 13 to 8. Outbatted almost two to one, Yale took advantage of the wildness of the Harvard pitchers and interjected hits at opportune moments. Hane's home run in the seventh with the bases full clinch the game for Yale.

With Recommendation to Institute Proceedings

Such the Decision of Attorney General Bickett, Who Has Just Had a Conference With A. L. Brooks—Doubt.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., June 20.—A. L. Brooks, of Greensboro, who was especially active in getting through the Legislature the special act for the investigation of the receivership sale of the old Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley and its partition between the Southern and Atlantic Coast Line and in the investigation which was made under this statute by the Corporation Commission, has just held another conference with Attorney General T. W. Bickett relative to the matter of bringing to the attention of Attorney General McReynolds the findings with recommendation that the Federal government institute suit for the annulment of the sale and the partition as having been in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

It has been definitely settled that the recommendation by Attorney General Bickett will be for the institution of such proceedings.

However, there is no time agreed upon as yet as to when the attorney general of the United States will receive Attorney General Bickett and Mr. Brooks for a conference on this subject in the light of the findings of the Corporation Commission which were transmited to Attorney General Bickett a couple of months ago.

While there are general contentions that the statements of Chairman Harry Walters, of the board of directors of the Atlantic Coast Line, and others who were personally connected with the transactions that brought about the receivership sale and partition of the road tend to show proceedings in violation of the anti-trust law and Attorney General Bickett so recommends, there is much doubt expressed as to whether or not Attorney General Bickett will deem it expedient to institute a proceeding for actual annulment of sale and partition and for putting the road on the market again, upsetting its present status.

THINKS THAT THOREAU WILL OULIVE EMERSON

Henry A. Beers Recalls Sanborn's Opinion of the Two Authors

(Henry A. Beers, in the July Yale Review)

Lately I saw a newspaper item about one of the 30,000 literary pilgrims who are said to visit Concord annually. Calling upon Mr. Sanborn, he asked him which of the Concord authors he thought would last longest. The answer, somewhat to his surprize, was "Thoreau." I do not know whether this report is authentic, but supposing it true, it is not inexplicable.

I will confess that, of recent years, I find myself reading Thoreau more and Emerson less. "Walden" seems to be more of a book than Emerson ever wrote. Emerson was incomparably the larger nature, the more liberal and gracious soul. His, too, was the seminal mind, through Lowell was unfaid to the disciple when he described him as a pistillate blossom fertilized by the Emersonian pollen. For Thoreau had an originality of his own—a flavor as individual as th tang of bog cranbrry or the wild appls which he loved. One secure advantage he possesses is the concreteness of his subject-matter. The master, with his abstract habit of mind and his view of the merely phenomenal character of the objects of sense, took up a somewhat incurious attitude toward details, not thinking it worth while to "examine too microscopically the universal tablet." The d isciple, though he professed that the other world was all his art had a sharp eye for this.

Emerson was Nature's lover, but Thoreau was her scholar. Emerson's method was intuition. while Thoreau's was observation. He worked harder than Emerson and knew more—that is, within certain defined limits Thus he read the Greek poets in the original. Emerson, in whom there was a spice of indolence—due, say his biographers, to eeble health in early life and the need of going slow—read them in translations and excused himself on the ground that he liked to be beholden to the great English language.

SIX MINUTES IN THE GROTTO

Boatmn Rush Visitors Through Capri Wonders

(Napls corespondene Washington Star)

For a moment after entering the grotto it seems to be all that the enthusiasm of preceeding visitors has printed it. The light from the entrance gives the water a marvelous blue tone. impossible to describe, and the oars are as o silver. But the boatman quickly makes the round of the "room" and is soon back near the opening, where already a dozen other boats are collected, while more are entering.

The blueness fades as the grotto fills. Away back, opposite the entr, ance, a candle is burning, and two youths in negligee stand spectally on a ledge waiting to be bargained with for a dive into the water for a lire. This is reputed to be a remarkable phenomenon, the boy's body showing silvery in the refracted light beneath the surface. But so quickly are we rowed around that there is no chance to negotiate for the dive, and almost before we realize that we have been inside of the famous "grotto azura" of Capri we are lying down again in the bottom of the boat, the oarsman is pulling at the chain and we have hopped out into the sunlight. Our visit has lasted just six minutes.

Obviously, it does not pay to visit the blue grotto in the height of the Neapolitan season. Probably it is well worth the time, trouble and cost of a special visit to Capri of two or three days, hiring of a small boat to make the "giro" and enable one to see the blue grotto at an hour when it is not crowded with boats and also to visit the other grottoes.

NEW ADMINISTRATION IN WHITEVILLE ACTIVE

Have Taken Hold of the Job With a Vim.

Work on New Court House for Columbus to Begin Within 60 Days, Ending Long Fight—Negro Drops Dead at Work.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Whiteville, N. C., June 20.—The new town administration, and this is the mayor and five councilmen, have certainly taken hold of municipal affairs with a vim and a determinaton that most emphatically corroborates the prediction in this correspondence sometime ago that Whiteville's new municipal government would certainly work great changes in local affairs and bring about a renovation and remodeling heretofore thought impossible.

Although the work of the expert accountants in checking up the finances revealed the fact that the general fund was due the bond fund (issued for street improvement) about $3,000, the new board has already invented a system of strictest economy, making some needed increases on privilege taxes and shaving pensioners from the town's pay roll.

The ordinances have been rehashed and revised, too, and the question of a curfew law has been considered at some length. As a substitute for one, Mayor Tucker has the night force report the names of each individual, without respect to sex or color, traversing the court square after midnight. He states that this is done in order to keep a check on the night force instead of using the punch-clock system.

Columbus' county people heartily concur in the kind expressions made by the "Man in The Street," and sanctioned by the Lumberton Tribune with reference to Mr. E. C. Wooten. The Star's traveling representative. Mr. Wooten is a native of Columbus county and recently moved his family to Whiteville.

Court House Fight Nears End.

The long drawn out and arduous fight for a court house is near an end, and the authorities state that active work will be commenced in less than sixty days. The spot will be where the present ancient and delapidated building now stands, and appropriate ceremonies have already been planned to mark the laying of the cornerstone.

The local telephone system, which was so nearly demolished during the severe snowstorm in March past, has just about been thoroughly repaired and connections established in town. There are quite a number of new installations and some extensions yet to be made, but many improvements have been made in the system and within another thirty days the repair work will be completed and Whiteville will have an up-to-date telephone system.

One of new town ordinances provides for the decoration of headpieces worn by draymen and chauffeurs with neat nickel badges, all of which will be numbered, and Chief Thompson will keep tally and see that the wearers of these emblems live up to the ordinances.

"They all come back." Forty-five years ago Mr. David Harrel left Whiteville and went to Cochran, Ga., where he entered the service of the Western Union Telegraph Company, and up until three years ago he had given that company continuous service when he was retired under their pension system, and his arrival in Whiteville this week was the first time he had been back in North Carolina since leaving his home in 1869.

Will Powell Drops Dead.

Friday afternoon Will Powell, an employe of the Whiteville Lumber Company, dropped dead at the mill. The news quickly spread that the negro had met a violent death, but a thorough investigation was made by Drs. Sadler and Whitaker, both of whom stated that the negro died from heart failure. He was about 45 years old and apparently in the best of health at the time of his sudden death.

Tammany Leader Who Faces Fall Fight

New York, June 20.—Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, faces once again a fight to retain his power in the city and State. The great Democratic organization is split, and it remains to be seen how badly. The antis hope to oust Murphy. Murphy hopes to down his enemies. Fences have already been built for the fall campaign. Murphy's claim is that his leadership has been fair and impartial and for the good of the party supporters.

Arrangements Practically Completed for Big Frolic at Beach.

Mr. W. R. Applebury, the handsomest man on the police force, who is chairman of the committee on arrangements for the annual frolic of the city's "finest" at Carolina Beach next Thursday, has practically completed all arrangements for the big event. It was inadvertently stated in yesterday's Star that this event would take place on Friday next. Hardly had the press stopped running yesterday morning before Sergeant "Woody" Howell called up the office to remind them of the serious mistake that had been made. However, it was then too late to rectify it.

There will be dancing of all kinds from the old fashioned square dance, to the two-step and the waltz. Captain Woolard has promised to pull off an entirely new kind of dance, but it cannot be described; it must be seen to be appreciated. Policeman T. M. Hall, the motorcycle expert of the department, will do some exciting acrobatic stunts that will be entirely new. Mayor Moore and Councilman Jones will be present and will make addresses.

TO LECTURE AT NORMAL.

Rev. F. B. Clausen Member of Faculty of Sunday School Conference.

Rev. F. B. Clausen, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, will be one of the speakers at the seventh annual nomal school for Sunday school workers which will be held from July 6 to 10 at Mt. Amoena Seminary, Mt. Pleasant, N. C. The normal is held under the auspices of the North Carolina conference of the Tennessee Synod and the Synod of North Carolina. Mr. Clausen is on the programme for two addresses, the subject of the first one being, "Missionary Training of the Sunday School." The second address will be on some topic of current interest in this work.

Other prominent Lutheran preachers who will take part in the normal school are Rev. R. L. Patterson, of Charlotte; Rev. A. C. Schenck, Dr. R. L. Fritz and Dr. J. A. Morehead.

Copper Magnate is Reported Near End

New York, June 20.—F. Augustus Heinze, copper magnate and formerly a power in the financial world, is seriously ill in his home here. His counsel, William Travers Jerome, asked for the re-opening of a case wherein a judgment for $275,000 had been found against Heinze. Jerome reported his client as dying. The judgment was in favor of William Nelson Cromwell, Edwin Gould and others, who held Heinze's promissory note for that amount, given in payment for 13,000 shares of the Mercantile National Bank on January 8, 1907.

Since the Progressive party is forbidden to use its voice it will have to confine itself to typewriting.

Nay, Miss Cora, men are not aviators because they are prone to go all up in the air and make their money fly.

In a divorce suit it was proven that a Chicago man, besides being an ardent lover, was a lover of ardent spirits.

When a man was asked if he wanted a general position he replied that nothing less than a general's position would be acceptable to him.

Cheer up. The new reserve banking system will be in full operation by the time the millinery openings take place in the early fall.

Keep on being for President Wilson till he corrects the evils of Republican administrations and has time to substitute his programme for theirs.

No English suffragette would think of slashing a picture in New York papers under the impression that they were using a deadly weapon on a work of art.

Wilmington is longing to see the State's editors and their lady friends who are coming here to attend the annual convention of the North Carolina Press Association which meets at Wrightsville Beach next Wednesday.

We have forgotten how long a camel can live without drinking water, but what is worrying a whole lot of people in Virginia now is that they are afraid they cannot possibly live on water as long as a camel can live without it.

A Wilmington woman was at first annoyed by her husband's habit of forgetfulness, but now she is making it one of her assets. She has had three birthdays since the first of January, and strange to say, the old man never forgets to give her something nice every time she says birthday.

A South Carolina candidate may take to the stump under the impression that he is a more or less respectable man, but he may have his doubts about him after he is told on numerous occasions that he is a liar, a hypocrite, a poltroon and a moon-faced, box-ankled, bow-legged, wall-eyed scoundrel.

The Associated Press dispatches yesterday morning announced that 15 generals have renounced Carranza and declared allegiance to Villa. That's some generals, of course, but we refrain from attaching importance to it till it is learned what the balance of the 'steen thousand Mexican generals propose to do.

The New York Journal of Commerce of Friday reports that financiers in London, Paris, Berlin and New York have loaned Brazil $100,000,000 so she won't be as hard up as she has been for the past few years. Republican papers will refuse to give President Wilson a bit of credit for seeing that Brazil shan't be "strapped" about all the time.

"The present administration," insists Elbert Hubbard, "stands in the light of attempting to destroy the trusts, the very agencies that have made us great." However, most of us are not great, and we have gotten it into our heads that the real purpose of the trusts was to make us "small potatoes and few in a hill." So far as we are concerned, we are simply great when it comes to burning punk as fast as people like Elbert Hubbard can make it.

Dr. Anna Shaw is a preacher and now and then is called upon to perform the marriage service. She says the nuptial ceremony as a whole is foolish and obsolete, a "poll parrot affair," in which a lot of meaningless twaddle is used. She says she has cut it all out, and especially that part about "obey," "death do us part," etc. Whether she is right or not, she just ties the knot in a fashion that gives the divorce courts as much trouble as what she seems to regard as nuptial nonsense.

GOOD AND BAD TIMES, NOW AND THEN.

The hardest times in this country were when a farmer once had to give a lien on his crop and buy supplies at high prices. Mortgages were plastered all over the farms, and when a man went to town he carried an order for ten yards of calico for a frock. No, the Democrats were not in power then, but they are now, and last year when the banks shut up their vaults during the crop-moving period, it was a Democratic administration which sent government funds to the South and the West and saved the day. The Democrats have been in power only about two years, but they relieved the situation one year and are now preparing a system of rural credits that will greatly encourage the development of the agricultural interests of every State in the Union.

The corporationists, trustificos, monopolists and corruptionists are feeling a little sore and more or less worried, but it is all their own fault. They got the country in a dickens of a fix, and they are being compelled to readjust themselves to a new order of things, which order is in the interest of all the people. A Democratic administration insists on submission to the laws, and necessarily that makes some of the high financiers and high jinks crowd howl, but all they have to do is to be good and quietly wait till a reaction sets in on a current running opposite to that on which they were drifting this country to the brink.

The world was not made in a day. It also takes time to recover from any night of hilarity or the period of orgies in which the money-mad crowd has been indulging for years. It takes from eight to nine months to make crops and gather them in, and the harvest period is here and will continue till the South's money-getting cotton is picked, ginned and marketed. The country's tobacco crop is being harvested, and the West has garnered a 900,000,000 wheat crop. A great corn crop is in prospect, and it's only a matter of "watchful waiting" till good times come on account of the country's enormous production.

After all, it is this country's production and not its politics that assures its prosperity. The withering blast of drought, the devastation of storm and flood, and the destruction wrought by crop pests can do more to knock prosperity into a cocked hat than all the politics from the days of Adam to Wilson. Good crops, obedience to the country's laws, and patient waiting for the time that it takes to do things is what will assure better times in this country. There's nothing in it for calamity howling and blame-saddling, and it is a wise man who waits and watches for all the world to get on an even keel and get into smooth waters again.

Prosperity depends on conditions here and throughout all parts of the world. All the earth's people are more than ever in the same boat, and till it quits rocking in America, Europe, Asia and Africa we will have to do the best we can and can while we can.

The great financial and commercial papers tell us that an easing up time is manifesting itself all over this country and elsewhere in the world, so it is a waste of breath to howl or to echo the howl of the howlers, who are sitting in the political game full bent on slipping an ace from the bottom of the deck.

NORTH CAROLINA AT THE EXPOSITION.

Every time the importance of advertising the resources of North Carolina comes up, we can not help regretting that there has been no practical study of those resources with a view to grouping them and publishing them in encyclopedic form. A man might be the best talker in the State, but it would be impossible for him off-hand to give any inquirer an idea of the varied resources of the State and point out the opportunities in each for an investor or a newcomer. However, a succinct narrative of the varied resources and adaptabilities of the State, printed in attractive form and aptly illustrated, would be of immense advantage in impressing strangers in a practical way with the absolutely hundreds of opportunities and advantages open in this great State to men looking for just exactly what they can get in North Carolina.

A proper and effective advertisement of the State's resources at the Panama-Pacific Exposition next year is now the most vitally important State question in which our people are interested. There is a vigorous movement in that direction and Governor Craig recently appointed a commission composed of ten of the State's leading men to take the matter in hand, formulate plans, agree upon the best method, secure exhibits, create public interest and obtain the necessary funds or devise a way to secure the funds that will assure a creditable display for the State at San Francisco.

The commission has met twice with Governor Craig, and will again meet with him in the executive office at Raleigh on the 29th instant. Former Senator J. A. Brown, of Chadbourn, is a member of the commission, and it was he who suggested to the Governor and the commission to secure the co-operation of North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia in a plan to make a joint exhibit for the South Atlantic States. The plan is an excellent and eminently practical one, and the commission is now working along that line.

The plan is to enlist the interest and co-operation of the Governors, the legislatures and the railroads of the three States in such an exhibit as will be sufficiently striking to challenge the attention of visitors to all three States. Their resources and products are so similar that one exhibit for all will answer the purpose of each and prove both an economical as well as an effective means of making known the marvelous adaptabilities of each State and every community in it. That refers to an object lesson exhibit, and aside from it all three States or their citizens could exhibit and emphasize in printed and illustrated matter the opportunities that their respective resources offer. It is a plan which should meet an enthusiastic reception in all three States and it is hoped the movement will succeed.

Senator Brown was in Wilmington yesterday to enlist the interest of the Atlantic Coast Line, and at the meeting on the 29th, the commissioners will all report the encouragement with which they have met in similar efforts in every quarter of the State. Whether the plan for a South Atlantic exhibit can be arranged or not, the Governor and the commission propose to go on with their plans to advertise North Carolina at the great world's exposition.

It is a progressive movement in which all the people of the State should co-operate, and the importance of the undertaking should be so universally recognized in the State that the General Assembly in January next should make such an appropriation as will supplement funds from other sources to enable the commission to advertise the State to the world.

THE RULE FOR GETTING POLITICAL GOATS.

The Augusta Chronicle urges political harmony in Georgia, but if such a thing could be possible in Georgia. The Chronicle would have to fill up with news about the bedlamic political disturbance which always is pulled off in Tillmanic style among its South Carolina neighbors. Anyhow, who the dickens started all that cantankerous, rantiferous, cavortiferous manner of getting political goats?

It might be well for The Chronicle to call to its aid the Society for the Suppression of Useless Noises in its efforts to reform the campaign style which makes things so red-hot over in Georgia and South Carolina every two years. Fact is, they are getting to be common in North Carolina and other Southern States as well, and we don't think anybody can doubt that they are mighty common at that.

Some time ago the Greenville News led us to believe that a real reform was promised in South Carolina. That esteemed contemporary hinted that there was a kind of ladylike understanding among the candidates that they were going to scalp each other in a slicker way than that which sets the crowds by the ears and is well calculated to break up a campaign meeting with a great deal of rearing and pitching and more or less riotous demonstration.

Alas! A few days ago somewhere on the stump in South Carolina, the Columbia State tells us that it was about all a number of mediators could do to keep Senator Smith from climbing up into the collar of Governor Blease. Looked one time as if the Senator, ordinarily a mild-mannered, suave kind of man, was about to wade in and walk the Governor log.

It was all because the Governor had stood right up before the crowd and intimated or asserted that the Senator was a hedger, dodger, evader, falsificado or something or other. Anyhow, it was something which the distinguished Senator interpreted as meaning that he was a liar, and so he got mad. Of course, it is not one of the rules of the campaign for candidates to cast epithets into each other's teeth or to "hurl epitaphs" at one another, as the darkeys say, but it must be admitted that it is hard on a fellow to stand still and smile while some other fellow is rubbing it in right where the crowd is taking the thing in.

When some men run for an office and other men ruthlessly presume to run against them, their opponents are liars, poltroons, blatherskites and trimmers. That is understood to begin with, so what's the use to waste the time of the meeting by trying to take the hide off an opponent in the presence of the crowd? When a man announces himself for an office he should state in his card that the only issue is that anybody who attempts to run for it, too, is a natural born pirate and an unmitigated scoundrel.

In order to assure a harmonious campaign, it might just as well be said that in order to eliminate all the absurd and ridiculous features, the rule for getting political goats should be modified so the candidates can show that they have brains as well as tongues.

MEXICO'S "ELECTORAL LIBERTY"

The Huerta envoys to the peace conference of the South American mediaries at Niagara succeeded in bringing on a clash with the American envoys by their mistaken or studied efforts to create the impression that in his purpose of securing the pacification of Mexico, President Wilson is dictating to their country and insisting on a plan that would destroy the "electoral liberty of Mexico." With promptness, the American envoys made response utterly repudiating the suggestion that President Wilson's attitude even remotely threatens the absolute sovereignty or electoral rights of the Mexican people.

The Huerta emissaries seem to be exceedingly zealous of the "electoral liberty" of Mexico, and if it is so that they have such apprehension as they profess, it would seem that they are inconsistent in appearing as the adherents, supporters and spokesmen of the Mexican dictator. He has destroyed constitutional government in Mexico.

On the contrary, President Wilson simply seeks to preserve the constitutional government of Mexico and restore it to the people of that country. That means more than the preservation of their right to vote and say who shall govern them. It is precisely the means of guaranteeing them their "electoral liberty," a thing which they do not now possess. The President only desires the pacification of Mexico and is making a way for the consent of the governed to the government that may be over them. At present they have a military dictatorship without the consent of the governed, while a majority of the people are in open rebellion for that reason.

The Huerta envoys cannot speak for Mexico. They can speak only for Huerta who is a usurper and whose elimination President Wilson demands so the people of Mexico can elect their own President in their own way. It looks like an attempt of the Huerta envoys to place President Wilson's attitude in a false light for the effect it may have in strengthening the position of Huerta with the Mexican people.

If the envoys are wise they will accept mediation in a different spirit and trust to the good intentions of the President rather than take the risk of exhausting American patience and invoking armed intervention in their country.

When they were bent on putting blue-eyed Billy Lorimer out of the Senate they told us about his early struggles and his splendid devotion to his family. It's a sad story, mates, but his way of running his string of banks in Chicago has all but ruined hundreds of poor depositors, men, women and children. A boy can have a hard time in early life and then grow up to be a man who loves his wife and children, but that's no excuse for him when he buys his way into the United States Senate or does a banking business at the expense of others whose struggles in life are just about the same as his were.

CURRENT COMMENT.

It is broadly intimated that Dr. C. G. Vardell and the board of trustees are committed to the change of name of the Red Springs College from its present unspeakable name to the Flora McDonald College. That is better than the Flora McDonald Memorial College, for long names, long sermons, long articles, have all been curtailed; but unless some of the traditions of the old Scotch in the Cape Fear section are wholly untrustworthy Flora McDonald was a swift lassie and hardly the proper person for a great Christian college to be named for. We advise the brethren to look before they leap.—Charity and Children.

The Daily News is in receipt of a copy of the bill (Senate 5825) introduced by Mr. Overman, appropriating $25,000 to erect in the city of Raleigh a suitable memorial to Sir Walter Raleigh. It is a bill worthy of passage of there has been no name connected with the history of the country more worthy of preservation than that. There have been greater men than Raleigh, but none more faithful to every instinct of the gentleman. Witty, learned and valiant, neither prosperity nor adversity was able to sour the sweetness of his nature nor to taint the essential nobility of his mind. Of all the heroes who had to do with the founding of our country, he is the best model of all that the American gentleman should be. We hope that the Overman bill will pass, as it ought—Greensboro News.

We think the General Federation of Women's Clubs made a mistake in even its mild endorsement of woman's suffrage. The endorsement did not commit the federation to a campaign. It only gave the cause of political equality the "moral support" of the federation, but the members of women's clubs throughout the country are divided on the question of giving woman's suffrage even moral support, and it was urged that such endorsement was outside of the legitimate sphere of the federation. This endorsement commits the federation to a principle, but does not pledge work for it. The question will become a political one. There are more than a million women voters in the United States and the Progressives have already made a bid for their support. They didn't get it. They were little if any more successful in states where women vote than elsewhere. But they will try it again, and it will be impossible to prevent the question from becoming a political issue.—Jacksonville Times-Union.

Farmers and their wives, of Ben Hill and adjoining counties, had opportunity yesterday at Fitzgerald of seeing a demonstration of improved farm machinery and of rejoicing in the fact that the increased interest in Georgia in the growing of alfalfa is to add a great deal to the prosperity of the State. Many of them were guests at what was called a Farm Implement and Alfalfa Show, the first of its kind ever held in Georgia. Moving pictures, not of the sentimental variety, but showing how farming methods have improved in recent years and how in some sections of the State farmers are meeting marked success in the production of fine pigs, were flashed on the screen. A model kitchen interested the farmers' wives. The show cannot fail to be productive of much good to the territory about Fitzgerald. Its promoters deserve commendation for their activity and for their selection of its official name. The demonstration of farm machinery points to diversified farming, as does the growing of alfalfa. Fitzgerald's enterprising spirit, exhibited in arranging the show, might well serve as an example for other cities in Georgia, for anything that helps the farmer to diversify his crops and improve his methods without wasting time and money in experimenting on his own account is of great value.—Savannah News.

CONFERENCE MEETS IN HAMLET NEXT YEAR

Epworth League Pledged $1,265 for Missions

An Earnest Plea for More Active Service by Mr. W. V. Martin—Installation of Officers This Morning—Sermon

Hamlet was selected by the North Carolina Conference of the Epworth League, in session yesterday at Fifth Street Methodist church, as the place for the next meeting after a strong effort had been made by Newbern to have the conference go there. Smithfield also extended an invitation, but this was later withdrawn. At the service last night $1,265 was pledged by the different leagues for missionary work in Africa. Mr. W. V. Martin, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at Spartanburg, S. C., spoke last night on the Epworth League and social service. He urged the young people to engage in active service in the kingdom of God.

"Religion is vastly more than trying to get to some place or preparing for some great work," he declared. "Social service in the church means that it is getting out among the masses and doing the Lord's work. It means Christianity permeating our entire social life. What an opportunity lies before you young people to do something in the needy world! I beg you in God's name to get busy."

Continuing, he pictured the great need of the world, how it is full of poverty and want, how many people there are that lack an opportunity to accomplish something really worth while, and how the church is falling far short of her opportunity to serve humanity. The old idea of Christianity was that it was getting ready to die; the new idea and the one that predominates today is that it is getting ready to live. Its mission in the world, the speaker declared, is to justify social, business, political and religious life and to put it on a right basis.

"Christianity that won't go with a man into his business life and cause him to do right and to live right, will not take him through the pearly gates on the other side," the speaker continued. "Every activity of a real Christian is sacred. That is a great conception of life, but if we could only grasp it, we would serve God as truly in politics, in business and in social relations of life as if we were in the pulpit."

Continuing he declared that many of the modern churches of today are great institutions that are over-organized. The members talk and talk and plan and plan but never get anywhere. And yet there is the world calling for help and they are unable to help. These churches are dying of spiritual indigestion, the speaker declared. It is considered sufficient, if the members go to church and hear one sermon a Sunday, forgetting that this is only the beginning of Christianity. But people are not saved by abstract theories. In conclusion the speaker gave a number of incidents which illustrated in a striking way the great truths which he had been trying to bring to the congregation.

At the morning service today the newly elected officers of the conference will be installed, following the annual sermon to the league which will be preached by Rev. C. T. Wilcox, pastor of the Methodist church at Louisburg. The conference will close with the consecration service tonight at 8 o'clock, to be conducted by Rev. Walter Patten, of Chapel Hill. The Sunday School at Fifth Street church will be held at 9:45 A. M., the regular hour, but will only last three-quarters of an hour in order that the church may be ready for the large congregation which will attend the morning service.

The morning session yesterday was devoted to a discussion of the literature department this being in charge of Miss Gertrude Royster, of Raleigh. Following this the junior league was discussed, the leader being Miss Iver Ellis, of Durham, superintendent of the Junior League work.

Upon the conclusion of the conference which was a most profitable one and was entered into heartily by all present, reports from the different leagues were read.

When the time came for the selection of the place for the next meeting a warm contest developed between Hamlet and Newbern, with Smithfield third in the running. Mr. C. E. Geddie, of Hamlet, made an earnest plea that the conference go there because he felt that it was needed. The advocates of Newbern extended a warm and hearty welcome to the city on the Neuse and the Trent, but most of the delegates thought that they should go to the place where they could increase interest in the work of the league. Hamlet has a live, active league which is doing splendid work.

Rev. Walter Patten stated that he would be unable to serve as editor of the league column in the Christian Advocate, of Raleigh. Rev. C. J. Harrell, of Durham, was elected to take his place as editor.

President W. A. Graham was elected a fraternal delegates to attend the next convention of the State Christian Endeavor Union and was instructed to take such steps as he deemed proper to bring about better co-operation between the two young people's societies of the two churches.

There was no session in the afternoon. The delegates were extended a cordial invitation to witness the games of the City Baseball League at Sunset Park and many accepted. Others spent the afternoon at Wrightsville Beach.

One of the enjoyable features of the service last night was the singing of the Acme male quartette. The entire body of young people rose and gave them the Chautauqua salute in recognition of their appreciation.

The conference from every standpoint has been one of great benefit to all attending. There has been manifest a deep spirit of interest and the delegates have attended the meetings regularly. There have been thorough discussions of all phases of the work of the Epworth League and great good has been accomplished.

EDITORS COMING THIS WEEK.

Largest and Most Representative Attendance in Years—Arrangements Are Complete.

Wilmington, Wrightsville Beach, Southport and their environs will be invaded this week by possibly the most representative of the State gatherings to be held here this season, reference being, of course, to the North Carolina Press Association, which will assemble Wednesday morning at the Oceanic Hotel, Wrightsville Beach, continuing in session two days and adjourning Thursday evening for a trip to Southport and Fort Caswell as the guests jointly of Capt. John W. Harper, of the steamer Wilmington, and the Southport Commercial Association.

At a meeting yesterday afternoon of the executive committee of the local press and allied printing trades, held in The Star building, Chairman James H. Cowan presiding, it was reported that final arrangements for the entertainment of the editors had been made by the several sub-committees of newspaper men and the Public Entertainment Committee of the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce. Mr. C. L. Stevens, of Southport, a member of the executive committee, was present and reported that everything was in readiness for the trip to Southport and Fort Caswell on Friday and that the people of Southport, the officers and men at the fort were looking forward with pleasure to the coming of the visitors. Returning to the city the editors will be guests for a short time of Dr. J. A. Dosher, a clever young North Carolinian in charge of the Cape Fear Quarantine station.

The editors will begin arriving on Tuesday evening and they will be met at the trains by members of the reception committee of which Mr. J. A. Livingston is chairman. A large party will arrive late that night on a special over the Seaboard Air Line. The visitors will be provided with badges which will entitle them to transportation on all lines of the Tidewater Power Co., at any hour. Cars will be in waiting at the station to convey the visitors directly to the seashore. Mr. H. R. Aiken is chairman of the transportation committee and has been assured of ample accommodations. Badges will also be passports on the steamer Wilmington and a committee from the Southport Commercial Club, composed of Mr. Stevens, Capt. J. J. Adkins, Capt. L. J. Pepper, and Capt. Wm. St.George, will accompany the visitors down the river on Friday, pointing out to them all places of interest, etc.

Attractive programmes are being gotten out by a committee of which Secretary Howard B. Branch, of the Chamber of Commerce, is chairman. In addition to this there will be a handsome souvenir booklet issued for the information of the editors by the Regional Reserve Bank Committee of the Chamber. This booklet will set forth some salient and interesting facts about Wilmington financially and commercially and will really prove a great advertisement for the city.

There will be two business sessions of the convention on Wednesday, the visitors being welcomed by Judge George Rountree and the response in behalf of the editors being by Maj. H. A. London, of Pittsboro. On Wednesday night the feature will be a Dutch luncheon given at the Oceanic Hotel by a number of the business men of Wilmington through the Public Entertainment Committee of the Chamber of Commerce. This will be altogether informal, but none the less enjoyable for that.

On Thursday a feature of entertainment will be a trip to the city by the visitors and an automobile ride "around the loop" as the guests of a number of Wilmington people who have kindly placed their autos at the disposal of the automobile committee, of which Mr. W. A. French is chairman. The visitors will take the machines in Wilmington and return to the Sound, boarding trolley cars there for the short trip over to the beach. The visitors will thus be enabled to see something of New Hanover's internal development and especially her good roads.

Thursday night after the address of Mr. Norman Hapgood, the Tidewater Power Co., will give a dance at Lumina, complimentary to the editors and their friends.

ARCANITES WILL CELEBRATE.

Joint Meeting Tomorrow Night in Honor of Founding of Order.

Carolina Council and Cornelius Harnett Council, Royal Arcanum, will jointly celebrate tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock the 37th anniversary of the founding of the order. Appropriate exercises will be carried out and refreshments will be served during the evening.

There will be short talks on subjects of interest by various members of the two councils and it is expected that the celebration will be largely attended.

The committee in charge of the arrangements is composed of Messrs. J. Edwin Bunting and Christopher Ketchum from Carolina Council, and Dr. S. Mendelsohn and Mr. J. Weil from Cornelius Harnett Council.

Wreck on A. & Y.

A freight extra from Sanford to Wilmington over the A. & Y. was derailed Friday morning at Walla, a lumber siding about half way between Fayetteville and Wilmington. The engine and six cars left the track, three cars being almost demolished. Engineer Southwell was slightly hurt about the face. Wrecking crews went to the scene from Fayetteville and Rocky Mount and had the track clear by 9 o'clock Friday night.

Death of Young Son.

Many friends will sympathize tenderly with Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Parker, Jr., in the death of their 2 months' old son, Milton Hannibal Parker, who died at midnight Friday night at the family residence, No. 816 South Fourth street. The funeral will be conducted from the residence this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

Forearm is Fractured.

Mr. John H. Rehder suffered a fractured forearm at his home at Eighth and Market streets Friday night when attempting to crank his automobile. The crank flew back and struck him on the arm, breaking it just below the elbow. His many friends will hope that he will be confined only a short time.

You can send a telegram to a man if you know his address—but you can send your message to him in a Want Ad. even if you know neither his name nor address and be practically certain that it will reach him.

CONTRACT AWARDED FOR WILLISTON SCHOOL.

Mr. R. H. Brady Will Erect Structure for Colored Children.

The contract for the erection of the Williston colored school building near Tenth and Church streets behind the Marine Hospital, has been awarded by the County Board of Education to Mr. R. H. Brady, a contractor of this city, his bid being for $15,000. Mr. J. F. Stroud, of Maxton, also bid the same amount but the contract was given to Mr. Brady because he is a local taxpayer. Other bidders were Wallace & Osterman, $16,475, and Rhodes & Underwood, $16,626.

Mr. Brady was also awarded the contract for the construction of a brick school building at Castle Haynes, his bid being $2,632, which was the lowest. Otner bids were: J. F. Stroud, $3,050, and B. Tucker, $4,382.

The heating contract for the Delgado school was awarded to the Capps-Griffith Plumbing Co. Their bid was $531. The old heating plant of the Hemenway school will be used in the new Williston school.

It is stated that Mr. Brady's bid for the Williston school was not the lowest submitted, another cotractor having bid several hundred dollars lower han any other. However, it was thought better not to award him the contract as he had had little experience in brick work and it is imperative that it be completed by October 1.

TO DISCUSS PRISON REFORM.

Lecture to Men at Airdome This Afternoon at 5 O'clock.

Rev. Sidney Love, secretary of the Carolina Prisoners' Aid Society, will deliver a lecture at the Airdome this afternoon at 5 o'clock, on the subject of "How to Impove Ou County Convict System." Mr. Love's talk will be with especial reference to the conditions as he has found them in the local camps, and he pomises to handle his subject with the gloves off, and to speak plainly.

The meeting this afternoon is for men only. All the men of the city are invited. Mr. Love stated yesterday that they would be invited to remove their coats at the meeting, and to hear the lecture in comfort. Music for the meeting will be furnished by Mr. H. E. O'Keef.

SMASHED THE AUTO.

W. M. Pate, White, Couldn't See the Postoffice Building.

Presumably because of having imbibed too freely, W. M. Pate, a young white man, ran an automobile into the postoffice building on the Chesnut street side and smashed both the front tires and broke the axle of the machine yesterday morning about 4 o'clock. He must have been making a good rate of speed as Policeman H. L. Smith found upon his arrival a few minutes after the accident that the front wheels of the auto were on the first step of the building.

Pate was charged with running an automobile while in an intoxicated state and was arraigned before the Recorder yesterday morning. The case was continued until Monday. He was recognized for his appearance.

Officers Found 52 Bottles Beer.

When Constable Davis and Deputy Sheriff Reynolds went to Love's alley yesterday afternoon to arrest Cain Miller, colored, on a charge of violating the prohibition law, they found in his place of business 52 bottles of beer and seven quarts of whiskey. Miller was lodged in the county jail to await a hearing before Justice Harriss. The booze was carried to the office of Justice Harriss. Miller has been to the roads several times on a charge of violating the prohibition law. He said yesterday that the temptation seemed too great for him and that he couldn't help it.

Boy Loses An Eye.

Eugene Harriss, a youth of St. Helena, lost an eye and a finger yesterday when a stick of dynamite exploded in his hands. What caused the explosion is not known. He was brought to the Harper Sanitarium, and unless complications set in is expected to recover in a short time.

The purse will be divided in the per centage system, as follows: 30 per cent; two 25 per cents and 20 per cent. The price of targets (two cents each) is included in all entrances of the regular programme.

On Wednesday, the second day, the shooting will begin at 9 A. M. and continue until the programme is completed. There are 13 regular events for the second day, each of 20 targets, with entrance fees of $2 and added money of $10. The purse will be divided in the same manner as for the regular events on the previous day.

Contestants are allowed to shoot for targets only in any or all events. Five dollars is guaranteed to the high amateur each day, and $5 to the high amateur over all targets. While nonresidents of North Carolina are not allowed to win the State championship, they will be allowed to compete in the event if desired. In the event of ties in the State championship event, they will be shot off in 20-bird events. The meet will be governed by revised rules of the Inter-State Association for the Encouragement of Trap Shooting, unless otherwise especially provided for.

The Oceanic Hotel will be headquarters for the sportsmen attending the big meet, and the shooting grounds will be open for practice on Monday preceding the opening of the meet Tuesday. A supply of standard factory loaded shells will be for sale on the grounds.

The annual State shoot is always an event of importance to the North Carolina lovers of trap shooting, and the fact that it is to be held at Wrightsville Beach will lend additional attraction this year. A splendid attendance is expected. Mr. Geo. S. Boylan, president, and Dr. J. H. Dreher, secretary of the New Hanover Gun Club, are busy making all arrangements for the shoot, and nothing will be overlooked that will add to the comfort and pleasure of the visitors on the occasion.

LEGALIZED PRIMARY ABSOLUTE NECESSITY

Democrats that ever lived. I am strong for President Wilson; strong for the legalized primary and all other policies advocated by the President."

While Collector Watts raves about there being no sentiment for a primary, members of Congress and others interested in President Wilson's success are writing letters to the State asking that such a plan be adopted. These letters for the most part are in answer to communications received here from Wilson men who resent deeply the attitude of the Iredell politician who desires to see President Wilson's primary plan defeated in North Carolina.

It is rumored, though they may not go that far, that progressive Democraes in North Carolina are planning to protest to President Wilson against the activity of his appointee at Statesville. These men, it is said, think Mr. Watts should be satisfied with holding one of the President's best appointments. Many of them even resent this, but they intend to ask that his political activity, which it is claimed is being directed against progressive polices, shall be stopped. At leas it will be brought to the attenion of Mr. Wilson. P. R. A.

Yesterday's Raleigh News and Observer: "Mrs. Hight C. Moore left yesterday for Goldsboro and Wrightsville where she will spend the week-end."

After the cold, dismal weather of the last few days the rise in temperature made the surf unusually attractive yesterday afternoon. There were a large number of bathers.

Among the guests at the Hanover Inn are C. B. Markham, Durham; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wilson, of Philadelphia; Mrs. E. G. Muse, Durham, and C. B. Watson, Philadelphia.

The biggest crowd of the season at night was at Lumina for the regular week-end dance last night. The refreshing breezes of the beach were most delightful and greatly enjoyed by all.

The demonstration dance by Mr. West and Miss Chandler at Lumina last night was the American tango, an original dance by Mr. West. This was a pretty exhibition of dancing and was well received.

Mrs. Andrew Crawford, Miss Lila Hill Crawford, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Moore, Jr., and Miss Mary Moore, of Columbia, S. C., were members of a party which arrived at the Seashore Hotel yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Spearman and two daughters, Misses Nellie and May Spearman, of Greensboro, are spending a few days at the beach. They are guests at the Oceanic Hotel. Mr. Spearman is a well known insurance man.

The North Carolina Pine Association will hold its regular summer meeting at the Oceanic Hotel on July 17. There will be between 40 and 50 prominent lumbermen in attendance. Arrangements have been made for a luncheon for the members which will be served in the dining hall of The Oceanic. Mr. Nathan O'Berry, of Goldsboro, is president of the association and Mr. W. B. Roper, of Norfolk, Va., is secretary.

Yesterday's Charlotte Observer: "Miss Mildred Finlayson will leave this morning for Wrightsville Beach where she will attend a house party given by Miss Margaret Scott, of St. Louis, Mo. Miss Scott is remembered here as a guest of Miss Finlayson and Miss Bessie Durham.——Miss Zada Gardner will arrive home tomorrow morning from Wrightsville Beach where she has been the guest of Miss Ethel Nothey for the past two weeks.——Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Patton and small son, James Wadsworth, are at Wrightsville Beach."

Services at the Wrightsville Beach chapel, near Station 2, on the beach, will be conducted this summer, as for several past summers, by Rev. Dr. J. M. Wells, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and Rev. W. E. Cox, rector of St. John's Episcopal church. The first of these services will be conducted by Mr. Cox tonight at 8:30 o'clock, and Dr. Wells will conduct the service the following Sunday night, these two clergymen continuing to officiate on alternate Sunday nights throughout the summer. A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend these services.

The programme for the moving picture exhibition which begins at Lumina tomorrow night includes a thrilling two-part drama entitled "Mysterious Leopard Lady," played by Miss Grace Cunard and Francis Ford; and "Word of Jose," a splendid Tannhauser production. The exhibitions this year will be very much superior to last year's exhibitions. A better film service has been secured and a new machine of the latest type will be used. A new improved silver light screen on which the pictures will be displayed has also been provided. The pictures will be displayed over the waves as was done last year. The Lumina exhibitions usually begin about 8.45 P. M., but tomorow night the exhibition will start about 9 o'clock, immediately after the first of the exhibition dance by Miss Chandler and Mr. West, which follows the children's souvenir dance.

Below is the programme for the concert to be given at Lumina tonight. As will be seen, the programme includes many fine selections. The afternoon concert, which begins at 3:30 P. M. will consist entirely of popular music. At the afternoon concert Mr. Richardson will be glad to receive requests for selections that any in the audience may like to hear. The night concert begins at 8:30. Mr. Richardson by his concerts has indeed proved himself to be a leader of the highest order. The public have been very much delighted with the performances of the orchestra under his direction. Mr. Richardson's concerts will certainly add greatly to the already enviable reputation which Lumina enjoys for its musical entertainments. In addition to his reputation as a leader Mr. Richardson is also recognized as a violipist of ability. The patrons of Lumina hope to have the pleasure of hearing him in solo work soon. AT THE Y. W. C. A.

My Dear Girls:

We have had a great time at the Y. W. this week, haven't we? We began with the vesper service, because I wanted to meet you first there rather than in a social gathering. We will have no more vesper services this summer, but drop in to see me Sunday afternoons on your way from Sunday school, or on your way to the afternoon or evening service.

Then wasn't our "House Warming" lovely? I think every one was surprised at the beauty of the house. It certainly was a vision of loveliness. I do not care where it is, I do not believe any other girls in any other city have as homelike an association as we have here in Wilmington.

I think the girls of Wilmington ought to feel very proud of the fact. And another thing, girls, isn't it good to feel that you can really have a share in this building? Do you know I think it would be an awfully sweet thing for the girls of Wilmington to each own a brick in the building. The girls in New York do. When they had the great campaign there, the subscriptions ranged from five cents to $260,000, and the girls who gave five cents feel ownership in the buildings just as truly as do those who could afford to do a great deal more than that. I heard of some little cash girls who made up a great purse of a dollar and a half and sent it in to the subscription committee.

Don't you think it would be a good idea for us to do that thing for our dear building?

Another thing this week that gave pleasure was the kitchenette party on Thursday night. A party of girls and boys stopped at the association on their way from a boat trip and had a candy pulling in the kitchenette. It was a lot of fun to watch those boys wash the dishes, while the girls wiped them. By the way, girls, did you know that anyone, who wants to, may have a kitchenette party? Just telephone to Mrs. R. C. Platt and engage it and promise to clean up afterwards. That is all we require. Some of the girls from the Brooklyn Baptist church are coming for a kitchenette party Monday night.

Then we had a great frolic last night. There were 31 jolly girls in all. We sang songs, had music on the piano and the Victrola, and we had some readings that made us laugh and cry by turns. Genius burned, and we had some wonderful productions in song. Suppose I give you an example of two of them? We want any one who has a genius in this direction to help us out, for we want to make a book of songs of our own.

(Tune "Bonny Blue Flag.")

We are a band of sisters,
We love our native town,
And here we work and work all day
Until our work is done.
And when our work is over
Together we will play
Hurrah for the jolly good times
At our Y. W. C. A.

Chorus.

Hurrah, hurrah, for our Kress Girls,
Hurrah for our Kress Girls
Who work all day, Hurrah.

We envy not the other towns,
With their equipment fine,
The way that we have started out
We'll soon be right in line.
If every one will do her part
And help us out each day
We'll always be proud to sing
Of our Y. W. C. A.

Chorus.

Hurrah, hurrah for Wilmington
Hurrah, hurrah for our home town,
For Wilmington, hurrah.

Now what do you think of that? Let's see how many songs we can have. They give spirit to any occasion. Here is another one.

"I'd rather be a Y. W. girl
Than to sit in the President's chair
I'd rather be a Y. W. girl
Than Rockefeller's only heir
It's the grandest place that ever could be
If you don't believe it just come and see.
I'd rather be a Y. W. girl
Than a multi-millionaire."

Yours sincerely,
ELLA A. CLARK.

LOCAL DOTS.

—Mr. C. P. Parker, of Parkersburg, sends us a "first cotton bloom" from the farm of Mr. L. L. Bennett, of that place. He says his section has had good rains and crops are improving rapidly.

—Professor Brown's orchestra will give three concerts at Carolina Beach today. The concerts will begin at 11 A. M. and 4 and 7 P. M. Many will doubtless spend the day at the popular resort and hear the excellent music.

Boy Breaks Arm.

David Murrell, son of Mr. J. W. Murrell, a messenger boy for the Western Union, had his arm broken yesterday at noon riding down Red Cross street. His lamp dropped off into the spokes of the front wheel of his bicycle, causing him to be thrown over the handle bars. He was taken to the James Walker Memorial Hospital for treatment.

MOUNT OLIVE TO GET ANOTHER RAILROAD?

Question of Absorbing Interest There Now.

Proposed Line to be Built From Lillington via Coats, Benson, Newton Grove and Jacksonville to Swansboro.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Mount Olive, June 19.—"Is Mount Olive to get another railroad?" is a question of absorbing interest here now, and one that, according to persistent rumors now assuming the proportions of authentic reports, will in the near future be answered in the affirmatve. If so, it will be known as the "Carolina Central," and extend from Lillington via Coats, Benson, Newton Grove, Mount Olive, Jacksonville and on to Swansboro.

The owners of the Atlantic & Western, whose line now extends from Sanford to Lillington, of which Mr. W. J. Edwards is president, are te promoters of the proposed Central Carolina; and, pursuant to their plans relative to this matter, Mr Edwards recently made with horse and buggy an overland trip of inspection from Swansboro to Mount Olive, along the route the new road would follow, for the purpose of familiarizing himself with the section of country through which his road would pass, and to lay before the people along the route the conditions upon which the road must be built, if built, namely, that the townships through which the road is to pass issue bonds to aid in the construction thereof. In this phase of the matter it said that Mr. Edwards has met with the most encouragng success, evidence of which is the fact that several of the townships in Duplin and Sampson counties, through which the road will pass, have asked for, and received from, their respective county commissioners' permission to vote upon the matter of issuing $25,000 worth of bonds to aid in the constructon of this road; and it is said that there is now no doubt about the elections resulting in handsome majorities for bonds. It is also said the county commissioners of Wayne will be asked to grant to Brogdon and Grantham townships the privlege of holding similar elections.

Should this road be built, it will mean the rapid development of as fine a section of country as there is in the State, in the counties of Sampson, Wayne, Duplin, Lenoir and Onslow, a portion of the country whose development has heretofore been very much retarded because of its lack of much needed transportation facilities.

No information as to just when construction of this road will begin has been given out.

D. & S. Talk Dead.

In this connection, it will be remembered that the owners of the Durham & Southern Railroad let it be known about a year ago that they intended extending their road eastward from Dunn via Mount Olive to Swansboro, and surveyed two right-of-ways from Dunn to Mount Olive, one direct, and one via Clinton; and it has several times been reported that the work of constructing the right-of-way had begun, but these reports seem to be false, and nothing authentic concerning the extension of the Durham & Southern has been forthcomng very lately.

NEGRO HAS CLOSE CALL.

Comes Near Losing His Life at Carolina Coast Products Plant.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Southport, N. C., June 20.—Last night at the Carolina Coast Products Company's plant, about nine miles above this city on the Cape Fear river, Riley Brown, colored, an employe, came near meeting his death.

The fishing steamers Hathaway and Lawrence had come in to be unloaded of their catches of menhaden at the dock. Brown at the time was at work on top of the elevator, which conveys the fish from the hold of the steamer to the factory on shore, at the other end of the dock. Without warning to Brown, the elevator started, who found himself about to be hauled through the small space where the buckets, with their loads of fish were going towards the factory.

To hang on for a moment meant his being crushed to death. Springing away, Brown took a header off from his perch, and went down some thirty feet into the mass of fish in the steamer's hold, from where he was quickly rescued, with no broken bones, but a wrenched arm and leg.

FIFTH WEEK OF SERVICES.

Subjects Announced by Mr. Haynes to be Discussed at Tent Meeting.

The fifth week of the long evangelistic campaign being conducted by Mr. Carlyle B. Haynes in the big tent at 11th and Market streets, will begin tonight with an address by the evangelist on "The Great Seal of Jehovah." This will be the last of two addresses on the prophecy of the Seven Seals of the Book of Revelation, the first of which was delivered on Friday night.

It has been announced that the most interesting subjects to be discussed at this series of meetings are still in the future. The whole subject of the future life, the state of the dead, the reward of the righteous, and the fate of the wicked will be presented next week.

The subject announced for Monday night is "The Test of the Ages"; for Tuesday night, "Memorials of the Bible"; for Wednesday night, "Why Was Christ Crucified?" for Thursday night, "Is God Particular?" for Friday night, "The Coming of Elijah the Prophet." Next Sunday night Mr. Haynes will begin a series of five addresses on the future state. His subject for Sunday night, June 28th, will be "The Other Side of Death."

The convention in Goldsboro was from all accounts a disorderly meeting. But the facts remains that it was a convention and how it can be constructed as an argument against the primary plan of nominating public officials is difficult to understand.—Raleigh News and Courier.

ELECTRIC "TOW PATH MULES" OF GATUN LOCKS PROVE EFFICIENCY

ALLIANCA in GATUN LOCKS, SHOWING OPEN GATES

THEATRICAL

Only a little over 24 hours have Wilmington theatre-goers to wait before the Victoria Theatre will open its summer season of moving pictures. This handsome theatre, the largest and most comfortable in the city, cooled by many whirling fans and freely ventilated, has made elaborate preparations for its summer season and as a result Wilmington people are going to be afforded the greatest galaxy of films daily they have ever seen. The tneatre will open promptly at 1 o'clock every afternoon and present continuous shows until 11 P. M. and the price will be but 5 cents admission.

Six reels of films are to be presented daily at the Victoria. This is the most mammoth show ever offered the people of Wilmington and the films will come direct from the General Film Company, the makers of the greatest of all photoplays and the product of which is passed by the National Board of Censors. Not only will the daily film list include the biggest and latest hits, but one brilliant special feature will be offered every day; something sensational and which will cause the people to sit up and take notice. The leader of the six reels tomorrow will be "At the Wheel," in three large reels. It is a thrill from start to finish. It is a story dealing with life at sea and therefore chance for some thrilling and spectacular incidents is tremendous and is well taken advantage of. One of the special features of the film, and a hair-raiser, is a motor boat chase.

At the Grand This Week.

For all Grand patrons this is positively, as the circus press agent would declare it, going to be the greatest and most wonderful week in the history of the "movies" in Wilmington. A great race begins tomorrow between the two Solky theatres, the Grand and the Victoria, for supremacy. The Grand will inaugurate its week with a show consisting of five reels of the swellest and finest of moving pictures, and the wonderful quintet will be presented for the same old tiny price of admission—5 cents. And such a show it is going to be. The mammoth moving picture spectacle, "Frederick the Great," the historical masterpiece, will be offered. It is in two large reels and the production is of immense size. It is not only of much historical value, but it is brilliant in the way of entertainment. Hundreds of people will appear in the production, and the cast will be made up of noted artists. For instance, the noted actor, Barry O'Moore, will appear in the title role, while Charles Sutton will portray the role of Frederick William and charming Mary Fuller will be seen in the part of Princess Amalie. People just can't afford to miss this big feature.

Following this sensation will come the prince of all comedy pictures, Kalem's "Stung", and it's a howl all the way through. The great trio of comedians, Marshall Neilan, Harry Leno and John E. Brennan, will appear in this film story.

Essanay will also make a superb offering in "The Hills of Peace."

Bijou's Big Week.

Without a doubt, the coming week, will be the biggest week in the history of the popular photoplay house. It can't be said whether it will be the biggest week The Bijou will ever have, and in fact, it most probably will not, but as a whole, it far surpasses any previous week's programme ever put on by the management of this popular spot.

Monday's bill opens with a mammoth three-reel followed by a full single reel. Tuesday rings a two-reel headliner, and two single-reel pictures of highest quality. Wednesday brings Lucile Love, in two reels, Our Mutual Girl in one reel, also another full-reel comedy. Thursday will show The Perils of Pauline, also another full-reel drama, and a big comedy. Friday brings a mammoth three-reel feature drama, and two single reels, five in all, and Saturday brings another big double-reel offering supplemented by a single full-reel comedy.

Tomorrow's big bill will be headed by one of the most timely features of modern times, a three-reel "101 Bison" feature drama, "On the Verge of War." The scenes are laid at the present time in San Diego, and Mexico, and it is a big story with the war maneuvers of the past few months woven into it in a great style. Remember, it's in three full reels—over 3,00 feet of the most thrilling movies ever produced.

"Mabel at The Wheel" is a brand new, full-reel comedy that supplements this three-reel feature on today's bill, and will be found one of the funniest offerings in a long time. The action centers around the recent Grand Prix road races at Santa Monica, California.

SUNDAY MORNING SERMONS.

Dr. Milton Will Preach Series on Old Testament Characters.

During the summer months, Rev. Dr. Wm. H. Milton, rector of St. James' Episcopal church, will preach a series of sermons on the general theme, "Sidelights on the Great Characters of the Old Testament," at the morning services of his church. The subject this morning will be "Enoch—the Beauty of Mere Goodness."

These sermons will be brief and it is believed interesting. It is hoped that many persons other than the regular attendants of the church will avail themselves of the invitation now cordially extended to them. Visitors to the city and to Wrightsville Beach are especially invited to attend.

CREW STOOD BY TO MAN LIFEBOATS WHEN LINER KAISER WILHELM II WAS RIPPED OPEN

LIFE BOAT DRILL on KAISER WILHELM II PHOTO © 1914 BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

It seems to be strange but true that accidents of a similar nature often happen in threes. The Empress of Ireland was rammed in the fog on the St. Lawrence river and lost with about 1,000 lives. Next the liner New York was rammed at sea by the Pretoria in the fog and badly stoved in, but fortunately above the water line. Then the North German Lloyd liner Kaiser Wilhelm II., once the fastest of Atlantic liners, was crashed into by the Incemore, a German coasting steamer, in the English channel in the fog and a hole ripped open in the side below the water line. The bulkheads saved her, and she put into Southampton. The picture shows a life boat drill of some of the crew aboard the Kaiser Wilhelm II. She carried 1,300 passengers at the time, and life boats were made ready for them, but not used.

A MILLION TRAGEDIES IN WHOLESALE IMMIGRATION

So Many Come From Europe to Have Their Lives Blasted

(New York World.)

In three fiscal years, 1905-1907, 3,413,000 immigrants entered the United States. The very year the panic broke 1907, saw also the immigration record broken with a total of 1,285,349.

Work was and continued scarce. In the next six years, 1908-1813, about 3,240,000 aliens eft our shores. Make due allowance for those paying visits home, or returning to live in Europe, and there remain a vast number whose coming had meant sorrow and loss, whose going meant disillusionment—an almost incredible sum of human tragedies. There may have been a million such individual cases.

Is the guess too high? Another year or two will fill up the total past peradventure. Again we are aced with a record immigration. With industry sluggish and much unemployment, 1,038,596 entered the country in the 10 months ended with April, and the usual proportion for May and June, will bring the year's total up to about 1,350,000.

It is inconceivable that such an immigration should have come in such seasons by natual process. Without misrepresentation. It is inconceivable that in six lean years 3,240,000 departing aliens should have met 5,419,000 coming in; that 1913 alone should have brought neary 1,200,000; that 1914 is to land 1,350,000, or more than the probable total o unemployment—unless lies had swollen the host to satisfy greed.

If folks hitherto honest are turned criminal by disappointment, if privation drives normal people to the hospitals or mental anguish maddens them, if a vase army face loss of time and waste of money hoared through years of industry, heavy lies the responsibility upon steamship companies that comb every hamlet in Europe to sweep possible passengers into their dragnets.

No immigration bill that Congress can pass wil do what is expected if it does not deal with this abuse at the source. "Assisted immigration," of which we have heard so much, we can detect and defeat. It is with immigration pompted, deluded cheated, that we have to deal.

LUMBERTON NEWS AND GOSSIP OF THE WEEK

Ground Too Wet for Work in Parts of Robeson.

Something of the Political Situation. Tribute to Mr. Higley—Several Aged Persons Pass—County Committee.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Lumberton, N. C., June 20.—Two weeks ago much uneasiness was felt in some sections of this county on account of the continued dry weather, but now things have changed and in many places the farmers can't work because the ground is too wet, but reports continue to come in to the effect that crops are unusually fine.

The political situation in Robeson county has reached that point in some respects when many of the best citizens have become so thoroughly disgusted that they can not feel the interest that they should in who is elected to the different places of trust. A class of "workers", it is regretable to say, has been educated to that point that they remind one of a bunch of idle negroes hanging around some corner or lying around on the grass in the shade of a tree. Go and try to hire one to do a little job and the first question is, "How much yer gwine-a give?" or "How much is dar in it?" Some of these peanut politicians stand around and wait for some office-seeker to come along. When approached, they soon tell what all they can do, how many votes they can carry for anyone they wish if there is money enough in it. They are no worse, however, than some of those who will go without eating or sleeping while chasing an office. Two days (Sunday) before a prominent county official died here a year ago, when all hope of his life had been abandoned, one hungry office hunter drove 30 or 40 miles to solicit the assistance of one of the county commissioners in securing the office that would soon be made vacant by death. But he didn't get the job. Thursday of this week, when the body of the register of deeds lay in his home waiting for the funeral, a man, considered one of the best in the county, was writing and sending letters here and perhaps elsewhere indicating that he would like to fill out the unexpired term. It is gratifying, however, that there is a strong sentiment in favor of the deputy register being appointed to fill out the term.

Thomas N. Higley.

In the death of Mr. Thos. N. Higley, which occurred Wednesday, Lumberton lost one of its best and truest citizens. The writer had known Mr. Higley intimately between 45 and 50 years. In young boyhood he and the writer became good friends and remained so until parted by death. In early life the two spent much time together. Higley was a good boy and grew up a good man. The writer cannot recall ever having heard him use a word of profanity or obscene language. If he ever used tobacco in any form the writer did not know it, and it is said that he did not know the taste of intoxicating liquors. Mr. J. A. McAllister taught his first school in Lumberton in 1868, and of the large number of boys and girls who attended that school, only four boys remain, Mr. Higley was one of them. The remaining four, Messrs. Geo. B. McLeo, R. D. Caldwell, Geo. B. Whitfield and the writer, were among the honorary pall-bearers at the funeral.

County Chairman T. A. McNelll, Jr., has issued a call for a meeting of the county Democratic executive committee to be held on Monday, July 6th, at 11 o'clock, in the court house at Lumberton to adopt rules for governing the primary to be held on August 8th. There now seems to be no end to the number of aspirants for the office of register of deeds; several want to be treasurer, but Sheriff Lewis and Clerk of the Court Skipper seem to have no opposition. Since the death of Mr. Higley, Messrs. Marcus W. Floyd, merchant, and Lester B. Townsend, accountant, have announced their candidacy for the register's office. The name of Prof. M. Shepherd, of Orrum, also is mentioned in that connection. Mr. Geo. B. McLeod does not expect to have any opposition for the Senate. Mr. McNair, of Maxton, who was a member of the House last session, wants to go back again, but is opposed by Capt. G. B. Sellars, also of Maxton.

On Wednesday of this week, Mrs. Julia Dees celebrated the 81st anniversary of her birth. But for the fact that she was painfully injured several months ago by falling from a buggy, she would be as well as anyone could be at her age. She has never found it necessary to use glasses. Mr. Dees will be 84 July 4th. He is generally on the go and has never needed spectacles.

Remarkable Coincidence.

On June 17, 1911, Mr. Jno. B. Pitman, one of Lumberton's most highly esteemed citizens, died and was buried on the 18th. June 17, 1913, Mr. A. T. Parmele, at that time Robeson's clever and efficient auditor, died and was buried on the 18th. June 17, 1914, Mr. Thos. N. Higley, the popular and accommodating register of deeds, died and was buried on the 18th. In a little over a year, five men connected with the court house work have died, the youngest being about 40 years of age.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Barnes, of Brunswick, Ga., were Lumberton visitors this week. Mr. Barnes was agent here for the old Carolina Central in 1875-76. For the past 19 years he has been with the Atlantic Coast Line in Brunswick.

Lumberton folks are glad to know that in the near future, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Britt, of Ten Mile, will move here to make their home. They are parents of Messrs. E. M. and W. S. Britt, attorneys at law.

The Star man seldom visits the recorder's court, though it is generally in session six days in the week. His reason for not going is that he does not care to go where so little respect is shown the court and he can't stand cigarette smoke. Some visitors go to the court to enjoy smoking and listening for the witnesses to say something funny. The writer contends that it is not treating the court with the proper respect when men go in the court room smoking cigars, cigarettes and, above all things, these old pipes that sound like they had the croup.

Death of Aged Lady.

Mrs. Helen Prevatt, relict of the late Mr. Archibald Prevatt, died at her home near Back Swamp Thursday. Mrs. Prevatt was 83 years old, said to have been the oldest member of Back Swamp Baptist church. The funeral was conducted yesterday by Rev. L. P. Hedgpeth, of Lumberton, and was attended by one of the largest gatherings ever seen at a funeral in that section. More than 50 vehicles were in the funeral procession.

Mr. Edward R. Phillips, residing near Allenton, in Wisharts township, died yesterday, aged 84. Mr. Phillips had been an invalid for some time and his death caused no surprise. He had spent his entire life in that section. The funeral was conducted this morning, a number of friends of the family going from here to attend the service.

At the regular meeting of St. Alban's lodge, No. 114, A. F. & A. M., held Tuesday night, the following officers were elected for the ensuing term: W. M., G. E. Rancke, Jr.; S. W., E. J. Britt; J. W., B. H. Stansell; treasurer, J. D. Proctor; secretary, J. P. McNeill. The installation will take place at the next regular meeting.

Rev. C. L. Greaves, who recently accepted the call to the pastorate of the First Baptist church, of Lumberton, arrived the first of the week, and will preach his first sermon as pastor of the church tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. Mr. Creaves' family is spending the summer in the mountains and will join him here at the close of the season.

Here is the way Lumberton news travels. After reading The Star on Sunday, a lady mails it to her son in a distant State, and after he reads it he sends it on to a friend in another State. One copy of the Sunday Star is read in Lumberton, then in Georgia and then in Virginia. This is straight.

Death at Red Springs.

The sad intelligence was received here this morning of the death of Mrs. Frank Currie at Red Springs last night. Mrs. Currie was probably 60 years old. She was a sister of Mr. J. F. McKay. The funeral will be conducted at Philadelphus Presbyterian church tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock.

One hundred and seventy-nine tickets were sold here this morning for the excursion to Wilmington. An excursion for colored people will be run from Hamlet to Wilmington Monday, round trip fare $1.

Many friends here regret to learn of the illness of Capt. W. L. Beery, of the Seaboard, and hope he may soon be on his run again. He had to be relieved at Hamlet yesterday morning and return to his home in Wilmington on train No. 14.

Among the veterans who visited Raleigh last week from this section was Mr. Calvin Smith, who had not seen that city since March, 1862, at which time he was on duty there.

It is understood that Mr. H. T. Beasley, an experienced tobacco man, will have charge of the Lumberton Tobacco warehouse when the season opens.

Mrs. T. C. Johnson returned this week from Whiteville where she spent two weeks with relatives.

Mr. C. B. Redmond returned last night from Sumter, S. C., where he went to accompany his two children home from school.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Thompson and little daughter, Elsie, returned this week from Louisburg, where they spent several days with relatives.

Mesdames T. L. Johnson and D. W. Biggs and their children have been spending the week at Wrightsville.

Covenant Service.

The congregation of the First Baptist church will hold special covenant services tomorrow evening at 8:15. Responses will be as follows: For senior male members, Stephen McIntyre; for senior female members, T. L. Johnson; for junior male members, L. R. Varser; for junior female members, C. B. Skipper; for congregation, E. J. Britt; for association, Dr. R. T. Allen; for the kingdom, Rev. Chas. L. Greaves. The public is cordially invited.

AUTO ATOMS.

Rainhoods in the shape of monk's cowls are now quite the thing for motor wear. They come to match various waterproofed materials and are especially becoming to young faces.

Milady who wants protection from sunburn, wind or dust can now have it in new mask goggles which have light frames and nose and cheek masks of pongee.

Suede coats in grays and wood browns with satin lining are an early summer fad. They are of raglan models and have hats and gloves to match.

Many autoists do not understand this "oversized tire" talk. It means that the tires are generally one-half inch in wheel diameter and three inches in wheel circumference, larger than those intended for the rim. The speedometer will register less speed and less mileage with oversized tires. In this way a thirty-one inch tire will record only 29 miles in every 30 traveled.

A small leather case now made to fit the driver's pocket, contains a tooth brush, tube of paste and small comb.

The best advice for the first time owner of a motor car is to strain his gasoline. It takes a little more time to strain it but sometimes it will save trouble caused by dirt or water in the carburetor or gasoline line.

The brace rods between the fender underneath light cars sometimes break from severe vibratory action. This can easily be prevented by placing a small strut in the middle of the under floor and fastening it to the brace to prevent vibration.

The greatest year the automobile industry has ever experienced is now being enjoyed by manufacturers the country over.

An almost unlimited amount of money presaged by bumper wheat crops is the cause.

With good luck a combined crop of 900,000,000 bushels of spring and winter wheat is probable, declare officials of the F. B. Stearns Company, of Cleveland, Ohio, who have completed a rigid investigation of crop conditions.

The government's April report on winter wheat shows 35,500,000 acres now under cultivation, an increase of 8.6 per cent. over 1913.

In 1913 the greatest wheat crop in history of the United States was harvested, the total yield being 523,561,000 bushels as compared with 399,900,000 in 1912.

"Staggering as it may seem, the combined crops are almost sure to exceed 900,000,000 bushels," says Roy F. York, vice president of the F. B. Stearns Company.

"With conditions reported by the government as four per cent. higher now than for the corresponding period one year ago, this abnormal crop yield is almost certain. Barring bad weather or ravages of insects, the 1914 wheat crop will be the bumper yield of the world not even excepting the enormous crops of Russia."

HOW TO BEAUTIFY THE HAIR.

A Simple and Inexpensive Home Method.

The hair is like a flower—a little care and proper nourishment does wonders. Just as a plant without air and water withers and dies, so will the hair go if not given proper nourishment. The scalp must be perfectly healthy and free from dandruff, as the scalp is to the hair what good soil is to plants and flowers.

If your hair is not pretty; if it is losing its color, too dry, matted, falling out, or if the scalp itches and burns you can overcome all of these conditions by using Parisian Sage, which supplies every hair need. It soaks right in to the hair roots, stimulating them and furnishing the nourishment that is needed for the hair to grow not only long and heavy, but fluffy, soft, lustrous and gloriously radiant.

You can get a bottle of this inexpensive, yet delightful and helpful hair tonic from Robt. R. Bellamy, or at drug and toilet counters everywhere. Improvement begins with the very first application. Besides stopping the scalp irritation it removes every bit of dandruff. The use of this unequaled hair tonic will surely give your hair new life and beauty.

Hammondesport, N. Y., June 20.—The new route for the Rodman Wanamaker trans-Atlantic flight from St. John's N. F., to Queenstown, Ireland, by way of the Azores and Cape Finisterre, which recentlly was revealed, is the chief topic of discussion in aviation circles. The followng statement was prepared for Lieutenant Porte to give out: "Since it has leaked out there seems no reason for further denying that the Azores route has for some time been under consideration. I have seriously considered this route, but thought it best not to make the matter public until too late for any one else to take advantage of my plans, as I have been to great trouble and expense in making the arrangements. Until all tests of machine are completed it is improbable that I will be absolutely decided as to which route I will take."

"THE ISSUES BEFORE US IN NORTH CAROLINA"

"THE STATE PLATFORM OF 1914 IS THE MOST PROGRESSIVE THE PARTY HAS HAD IN YEARS, AND THE DEMOCRATIC MASS MEETING IN APRIL HAS BEEN ABUNDANTLY JUSTIFIED BY THE RESULTS."

By Clarence Poe

To The Editor of The Star:

Congressman Gardner, of Massachusetts, remarked the other day that "if the Lord Almighty had foreseen how much talk the Panama Canal was going to cause he would have dug it himself when he made the world." I have been wondering if my friend, Mr. Morrison, isn't beginning to think the same way about the Democratic platform of 1914.

Let me assure him in the beginning, therefore, that what I am going to say is not called forth by any article of his or his correspondents and will not add to his list of controversies. The fact is simply that ever since the State Convention there has been a demand for some expression from leaders of the Democratic mass meeting as to the issues before us in North Carolina and the "progressiveness" or otherwise of the platform adopted, and I think the public is really entitled to come such statement.

In fact, the expressions I have heard and read and the letters I have received indicate, it seems to me, a considerable misunderstanding of conditions, a misunderstanding that is likely to be hurtful to the party and the cause of progress within it—and I believe it is only through the Democratic Party that we can secure the wholesome progress the State and her people need. Therefore, speaking solely for myself and without conference with anyone else I wish to review the situation and the issues as I see them.

I

Let me say then, very frankly, that the State Platform of 1914 is the most progressive the party has had in years and the Democratic mass meeting in April has been abundantly justified by the results.

I am aware that this statement will surprise many people, but I challenge any man to read the platforms of 1910 and 1912 (the only old ones I have with me) and then deny my statement that the 1914 platform is far more progressive then either.

Understand me: I believe the 1914 platform should have been 100 per cent. more progressive and emphatic; but my point is that we have made a good start toward getting platforms responsive to public opinion and we'll do better next time.

From some of the doleful comments in the papers, one might infer that the State Convention went against direct, legalized, State-wide primaries, whereas the fact is that the resolution offered by the opponents of such primaries was so overwhelmingly beaten that it hardly managed to get to a vote at all, and the only exception made was for county officers.

Which Mass Meeting Resolutions Were Adopted and Which Were Not?

Let us consider the complete record, taking in detail the resolutions adopted by the Democratic mass meeting in April (Mr. Morrison is wrong in calling it "Progressive Convention" when it was a "Democratic Mass Meeting" for Democrats, for all Democrats, and for nobody but Democrats!)

Of the mass meeting resolutions the platform committee adopted:

1. The legalized State-wide primary for all political parties and for all offices, (the platform committee simply excepting County officers.)
2. Six months school term plank, with agriculture in the schools.
3. Rural credits plank.
4. Public health plank.
5. Modern penal system plank.
6. Freight and insurance rates plank.
7, 8, 9. Health, conservation and temperance planks.

Not only did the platform committee adopt these planks, but a reading will show any one that in more than half the cases they used the exact language of the Mass Meeting Platform.

The resolutions the platform committee did not report upon were the following:

1. For establishing a State Highway Commission and for putting convicts on public roads instead of railroads.
2. Prohibiting employment of children in factories, or of women at night.
3. Giving the people a vote on the initiative and referendum.
4. Endorsing the Constitutional Amendments affecting taxation and local legislation, and declaring for increased inheritance taxes.
5. Dividing the Corporation Commission.
6. Requiring employees of public service corporations to sever such connection before accepting office.

Of these six resolutions which the committee failed to insert in the platform, it should be noted that not one did they report adversely, and only on No. 1 and No. 6 did members of the Platform Committee themselves express opposition to our mass meeting Committee. The others, it was declared, were simply not matters important enough, or about which party opinion had sufficiently crystallized, to justify platform planks.

I, of course, was strenuously opposed to this latter view, particularly with reference to taxation—for I hold that a party whose financial record is a record of bond issues and deficits, deficits and bond issues, as ours is sure to be unless reforms are instituted—fails in a primary test of competence, and that taxation reform is of the first order of political importance.

Platform Insures Part; It is Up to The People to Get the Rest.

This point I wish to discuss later, however. My point here and now is simply that the platform committee accepted nine items from the mass meeting resolutions, and that except for Nos. 1 and 6 and the rejected demands, the Committee did not express hostility to these half dozen rejected demands, but simply declared that they should be left to the Legislature and public opinion.

So, as I see it, it is now simply up to the people of North Carolina who believe in these things to go ahead and get them through the Legislature. We ought to remember this—that a platform in North Carolina has represented a minimum of party endeavor rather than a maximum. We have had one advance after another in child labor legislation, for example, without its ever having been once mentioned in the party platform, so far as I know. And in the Legislature of 1913 we put through the six months school term, compulsory attendance, the Torrens System, vital statistics, submitted ten amendments to the State Constitution, and did other things almost as big without any one of them having been remotely mentioned in the platform.

As I see it therefore, all this talk about the Democratic Party being ruled by standpatters and steeled against the demands for progress, is in danger of being overdone. Instead of complaining that the advocates of progressive measures were checked in the convention, the truth is that we won a genuine victory and have only to go right on in order to win other and yet greater ones. If there had only been a contest to bring the great rank and file of the party to Raleigh, or if the convention had not been held at such a busy time for farmers (which was wrong) there is no telling how progressive a platform we might have had.

Certainly in view of what has been accomplished, and in view of what the State Press—an accurate reflector of public opinion—has shown as to the vigorous and imperious demand for a still more progressive platform, there is no occasion for the charge that our party is to be dominated by reactionaries.

We have only to look well to our condidates for the Legislature and educate our people as to the issues before us in order to insure an inspiring record of Democratic achievement in the Legislature of 1915.

And with so much by way of preface, I wish now to present my own views, to such as care to follow me, as to what the issues before us are.

II

Let us consider then, first of all, that fundamental essential of democracy—a modern well-safeguarded,legalized, State-wide primary for all offices and for all parties the same day. In President Wilson's famous phrase "Back of all reform lies the means of getting it," and it should not be forgotten that immediately after this sentence he announced that the first thing needed as a means of popular expression and action is "the direct primary, the direct choice of their officials by the people without the intervention of the nominating machine," adding that "the critical moment in the choosing of officials is that of their nomination more often than that of their election." Especially is this true wherever a Etate is safely in control of one party. The rank and file of the voters have only the shadow of democracy if they elect condidates but not select them.

Let us be in at the beginning then by asking: What does the direct primary mean? It means simply taking away the right to name candidates from a smaller group of men and putting it into the hands of the great rank and file of the people, giving every citizen a chance to say what man will best represent him.

And the next question that arises is: Why is there opposition to the direct primary unless it is that somebody is unwilling for all the people to have this right of naming their own candidates? And why are they unwilling for the people to have this right unless it is that their own privileges would be interfered with?

In other words, if there isn't some real need for the direct primary, then why is it that in practically every State in the Union powerful politicians and special interests, by fair means and foul, have fought this demand of the people as they have fought hardly anything else in all the political history of America?

An Excuse That Won't Hold Water.

There has been but one serious excuse given for opposing the primary, so far as I have heard. That excuse is that in politically close counties the contest for nominations in a primary may create party disaffection and lose the county to the party. The answer that comes to mind immediately, of course, is that if primary rivalry in a close county would breed trouble in the Democratic party, it would breed trouble in the Republican party also—unless the Republican voters have more sense and neighborliness than the Democrats, which we won't admit—and the two troubles would offset each other.

But the most important answer to this "primary will cause feeling"—objection, is that among men worth while—"men who know their rights and knowing dare maintain"—a party is not in one half as much danger from fair and open contests settled by the people themselves as it is from a feeling that a clique or smaller group of party leaders is saying who shall hold the offices and control the Government.

Old Nathaniel Macon used to say, "The tempest of democracy is better than the calm of despotism," and this is certainly true as regards any party worthy the suffrages of the people. I have seen—and I leave it to the reader if he has not seen—ten times more party dissatisfaction caused by a feeling that a few men were running things than I have ever seen caused by the hottest struggles between opposing candidates fairly and squarely fought out and settled by the great body of people themselves. Put this up to the man who says he fears trouble for his "party" if we get the primary. Nine times out of ten the "party" who will be hurt is the gentleman himself.

We should have in North Carolina a thoroughly modern, general primary law for all offices, applying to primaries all the provisions of our present law against corrupt practices in elections. But if the Legislature is to permit the representatives from any county to say that the people in their county shall not have the right, as people in other counties have, to nominate their county officers, let the people settle the matter with these legislators.

In any case all members of the Legislature, being in fact State officers rather than local officers, should assuredly be chosen by direct primary. The party platform has declared that the people have a right to demand that our State officers, the men who govern our State, shall be primary-chosen; and if this is a correct principle, then the first need is for the men who make the State's laws to be so chosen.

Why Have a Primary for All Offices the Same Day?

And the people must watch out, too, for the division of the primary into sections—"the three bites at a cherry" scheme. If the people must go to the primaries, two, three, or four times in order to nominate a full set of candidates, the natural result is that the men who have personal interests go while the great body of voters refuse to take the trouble, and as a consequence whatever little group of gentlemen hate been relieving the people of the trouble of running their own affairs continue to do so.

Consider the fact, for example, that in the writer's home county this year, there has been one primary to elect delegates to the county convention; another to nominate candidates for the Legislature; and there is to be yet another to nominate county officers—three separate primaries to find one job of naming candidates in one county. What more natural result than that in the first primary, which was held for nothing but to nominate delegates to the county convention, so few people attended in the writer's precinct that a typewritten list, prepared and predestined by a few industrious gentlemen, went through for county delegates; then in the county a rule was adopted that only men elected county delegates would be elected State delegates; and then in the State convention a "unit rule" was adopted to prevent the minority from expressing itself! Which is more likely to promote party loyalty and harmony—a policy like this (which is as much of the old convention plan as can survive under new forms) or the other policy; a legalized primary for all offices and all parties the same day so that all the people would come out, do their duty, and be done with it?

We must beware left we get a primary law having the form of democracy but denying the power thereof.

Tax Thrift and Industry Less, Unearned Wealth More.

The second imperative need in North Carolina is a better system of taxation. To this end the Constitutional amendment authorizing the Legislature to adopt taxation reforms ought to be adopted, and the people should demand that more of the burdens of taxation be put upon unearned wealth—notably inheritances—giving corresponding relief to the hard-won earnings of industry and labor. It is a crying shame that the State of North Carolina last year collected four times as much from a tax on the poor man's kerosene oil as it collected from all the inheritances of the wealthy—and even this was an improvement over 1912, when the collection from the oil tax amounted to ten times that from inheritances! When George W. Vanderbilt died last year Mr. A. J. Maxwell pointed out that our inheritance tax would probably give us only $100,000, while even the New York inheritance tax law would have given us $400,000—and certainly nobody has ever accused New York laws of being socialistic!

Moreover, it is a no less shameful fact that while small tracts of land and humble homes are likely to be assessed at something like a fair valuation, large plantations, large corporation holdings—and worst of all, that form of wealth which should be taxed at the highest rate of all, namely, lots and lands held for speculation, either wholly idle or but partially developed—are usually assessed at a very much lower rate than the cottage or the the 100-acre farm of the industrius plain citizen. An ex-Senator told me recently of a corporation worth $600,000 assessed for $60,000. Another prominent citizen tells me a mining company worth $3,000,000 is assessed for $65,000. Did not the Seaboard Air Line Railway kick on a $1,500 valuation on four acres in Charlotte—and then get $12,500 for one-fourth of an acre? A big mountain land company reported to be worth $3,000,000 is assessed, I am told, at just 2 per cent of its real value.

We must collect a larger part of the State's income from inheritance taxes (Wisconsin in 1911 collected $1,000,000, while North Carolina collected $9,000) and we must compel equity in assessments by publishing them. No wonder Chairman R. R. Williams, of the 1913 Finance Committee said of the present revenue act that it "contains injustice and inequality—against the poor and favoring the rich and big corporations—that cry to high heavens."

Adopt the Constitutional Amendments

The taxation amendment is the most important of the ten Constitutional Amendments on which our people are to vote next fall, but the writer believes that our people would do well to vote for the whole list from start to finish as follows:

1. To revise and reform the system of revenue and taxation.
2. To restrict local, private and special legislation by the General Assembly.
3. To prevent special charters to corporations by the General Assembly.
4. To prevent special charters to towns, cities, and incorporated villages by the General Assembly.
5. To prevent delays in trials by providing emergency judges.
6. To increase compensation of members of the General Assembly and to decrease their mileage.
7. To require six months public school term.
8. To substitute the phrase "War Between the States" for the word "Rebellion" (in two instances.)
9. To fix the day of inauguration of the Governor.
10. To remove obsolete sections from the Constitution.

I believe every one of these propositions is wise, but Nos. 1, 2 and 7, are the only ones of great importance. No. 1, as we have just indicated, will leave the Legislature free to reform some serious abuses in our present system of taxation. Nos. 2, 3 and 4 will give the people in counties, cities and towns the right to settle local matters on which the Legislature now fools away half its time. No. 7, makes the Constitution require a six months instead of a four months school term. There should be no opposition to making the pay of legislators $600, for this will mean that instead of having so large a proportion of legislators with special interests we can have a large proportion of farmers and others who cannot accept the place at the sacrifice which the present per diem necessitates.

Eight Other Important Matters.

A number of other issues before our people are too well known to need extensive argument in their behalf.

1. A modern child labor law such as every Governor since Aycock has urged upon the Legislature in the name of childhood and for the sake of the State's future. Governor Craig's courageous support of this measure should insure victory in the next Legislature.
2. Enforcing the Farmers' Union demand for better protection to white communities by providing "that wherever the greater part of the land acreage in any given district that may be laid off is owned by one race, a majority of the voters in such district may say, if they wish, that in future no land shall be sold to a person of a different race—provided such action is approved or allowed (as being justified by considerations of the peace, protection and social life of the community) by a reviewing judge or board of county commissioners."
3. Encouragement of better roads by establishing an expert highway commission to insure wise expenditure of road taxes, and by using convicts, under suitable restrictions, for building roads instead of giving away their labor in exchange for worthless railway stock.
4. Adoption of a modern penal system, including indeterminate sentences, parole system, and giving a part of convict's earnings to his family.
5. Continued educational progress, including the six months school term, agriculture in the schools, and the raising of the compulsory attendance age limit from 12 to 13 as advocated by the cotton manufacturers.
6. Better system of county government, including plans for having the chairman of county commissioners give more time to his work, and allowing counties that wish to adopt commission government as it exists in towns. Encourage salary system instead of fees; and abolish office of county treasurer where it exists.
7. Co-operate with National Government in providing an improved system of rural credits and adopt a law making ample provision for rural co-operative societies.
8. Progressive health, temperance and public morals legislation, including a law to make cohabitation of the races a crime.

The Initiative and Referendum—Let the People Decide.

I have purposely reserved for the last the discussion of the initiative and referendum—I mean giving the people a chance to say whether they want these measures or not. That is all that is asked for, and I leave it with the reader to decide as to whether any legislator should arrogate the right to say that the people shall not pass upon these matters. As to whether there is a demand for a vote, it is answer enough to say that the State Farmers' Union representing 40,000 white farmers, has asked that the people be given the privilege of voting upon this matter, and it is begging the question to say they are not in earnest.

As has been well said, "If the people want these measures, they ought to have them, and if they don't want them, there's no harm done."

When a legislature submits one amendment on so small a matter as that of changing the day of inaugurating the Governor, and another changing the phraseology of two sentences in the Constitution, it at least cannot be pretended that the initiative and referendum matter is too unimportant for public consideration.

The writer must confess that until recently he has thought there was but little need for direct legislation in North Carolina, but a closer investigation of its workings in other States and a little better knowledge of the third-handedness of popular rule in this State has convinced him that our people need and should have this method of compelling action when they fail to get it by other methods.

North Carolina was 85 per cent. rural in 1910, yet in the recent State convention not a single farmer got on the platform committee—not a single man whose chief business is tilling the soil. And in committees of all parties, it is frequently about as it is with Texas State Executive Committee—33 lawyers to one farmer! No wonder the farmers and plain people want the government brought a little nearer them; and haven't they a right to demand it, if we are to claim that we have a real democracy?

I do not believe the initiative and referendum, if adopted, would be much used in North Carolina—we have had them two years in Raleigh, for example, and they have never yet been invoked—but the fact that the people had these powers would doubtless quicken the legislators' willingness to serve as surely as serviceable branches of hickory have been known to quicken responsiveness to parental authority. As President Wilson says of these measures:

"The very possibilities which they imply, are half—indeed, much more than half—the battle. They rarely need to be actually exercised. The fact that the people may initiate keeps the members of the legislature awake to the necessity of initiating themselves; the fact that the people have the right to demand the submission of a legislative measure to popular vote renders the members of the legislature wary of bills that wuold not pass the people."

Does Mr. Morrison believe, for example, that if we had had the initiative and referendum in North Carolina he would have to make the humiliating confession that though the party has been committed to the idea of a State-wide legalized primary since 1900, we haven't got it yet?

CLARENCE POE.

Raleigh, N. C.

P. S.—I should probably remind Mr. Morrison and the public of one serious error of his with regard to the mass meeting. I refer to the place where he gets wholly mixed-up by confusing the midnight-adjournment vote on the plank opposing railroad employes and attorneys as legislators—a matter about which the convention got into a snarl—with the earlier, clear-cut vote on the initiative and referendum. The latter vote, while viva voce and not counted, was very large; and I know that at this night session—it was in the big Raleigh auditorium—Governor Craig turned to me and said, "I estimate we have the auditorium just half full"—over 2,000 people; more than were present at the biggest session of the State Convention itself, I believe. As a plain rank-and-file citizen who has never voted for anybody from constable to President except a regular Democratic nominee, I am interested in the progress both of the State and the Democracy, and I am confident the mass meeting by presenting a definite programme of progress within the party, rendered it and the State a great service. With loyalty to the party, and to its forward-looking leaders, I repeat that I believe this programme can be largely carried out in the General Assembly of next year.

Wood's Seeds

Seed Potatoes
FOR FALL CROP.

The planting of Seed Potatoes in June and July is increasing to a wonderful extent. A great many farmers claim that they give better crops planted at this time than they do when planted in the spring. Potatoes planted in June and July mature in the cool weather of the fall, at a time when they can be harvested to best advantage.

The Seed Potatoes we offer are put in cold storage early in the season, so as to keep in first-class, vigorous condition.

THE SECOND RETURN FROM ELBA

One big practical drawback, of all the conditions which Roosevelt would have to face in an attempt to bring about a Progressive-Republican consolidation in support of his candidacy in 1916, is that he could not whip the members of the Progressive party into line. They would not amalgamate, even if Roosevelt would. The difficulties with the leaders, would be accentuated with the rank and file.

How about the other wing of the negotiation? Assuredly the Republicans would not be more pliable on the fusion question, than the Progressives. Barring the similarity of views on the tariff, there is none of the greater National issues, on which the Progressives and the Republicans think together. Where would be the basis of conciliation? If there were any conciliation at all, it would take the form of mutual surrender, or, what would be infinitely more likely, elimination of the element of mutuality, in platform declarations and party propaganda, and the knockdown surrender of one side to the other. Neither party would be willing to make the sacrifice, and this was fully recognized by former President Taft, who is today the most representative Republican living, of the conservative, or more strictly speaking, ultra-conservative, element of the party, when a few months ago he declared in the Saturday Evening Post, that he agreed with Col. Roosevelt, that Progressive and Republican fusion was impracticable. Does Col. Roosevelt think it any more practicable now than he did then? If he does, ambition, that greater blinder of political vision, must have blurred his generally acute sense of the practical side of a political situation.—in National Monthly.

MITLA, "THE PLACE OF DEATH"

Ruins of An Ancient Burial City, Near Oaxaca, Mexico.

The ruins of ancient cities, remnants of dead civilizations, have a fascination for most people. Be they scientists of great renown of mere mortals of more common clay, somehow something stirs within them at the touch of antique things. The average tourist seeking surcease from the daily grind, whether of the college lecture room or of the constant chase of the elusive dollar in trade and traffic, who finds himself in some strange city and learns that not far off are the weather-beaten walls of an ancient temple, shrine, or palace whose history is a mystery and whose builders are unknown, hies himself at once to that place. He touches the crumbling stones, traces the grotesque figures and queer designs, and marvels that such things could have been so many years before he came on earth, perhaps even before the very civilization of which he is a boastful part came into existence.

Mexico is full of such ruins as these; in Yucatan alone there are some 70 or more. Approach to some of these is too arduous to most tourists, but on the southernmost shore of the republic lies the State of Oaxaca, whose capital is easily accessible. "Oaxaca City is reached from Puebla by the Mexican Southern"—according to a statement in the latest pamphlet on Mexico, issued by the Pan-American Union, of Washington, D. C. "The distance is 228 miles and the trip takes 12 hours. It is 288 miles from Mexico City and the same distance from Vera Cruz. Its population is 40,000. It was the early home of both Porfirio Diaz, former President, and Benita Juarez, the patriot and National hero. Its age makes it very attractive, but it is quite modern in many ways, possessing tram cars, electric lights, telephones, and other factors of comfort. A feature connected with Oaxaca is the fact that from the city the excursion is made, about 25 miles to the southeast, to the ruins of Mitla, some of the best preserved pre-historic remains of all Mexico."

Mitla is a contraction or corruption of the word Mictlan, meaning "The place of Death." The modern village and the ancient ruins occupy the center of an arid plain or valley, surrounded on all sides by equally arid hills, on the highest summit of which are the well-preserved remains of a great fortress, whose walls are of a rough construction and without ornament of any kind. Nearly in the center of the plain five great groups of buildings stand out completely exposed. Many of them are now nearly shapeless mounds and masses of ruins. Two great groups, however, are in comparatively perfect preservation, a third is incorporated with an old church, and a fourth, the great sacrificial mound, is surmounted by the ruins of a very ancient church. The principal buildings are of stone masonry. A condensed description of one will give an idea of the others.

The Hall of Pillars, the northernmost building of the north group, is a great room 125 feet long and 23 feet wide, interior measurements. The height of the walls is about 12 feet, the thickness varying from three feet two inches on the sides, to four feet, six inches for the front wall. The entrances are three doorways nearly eight feet wide, each composed of three members, two enormous monolithic jambs about seven feet right, six feet wide, and two feet thick, surmounted by monolithic lintels nearly 20 feet long, three feet wide and five feet thick. The most striking feature of the room is a row of six monolithic columns running lengthwise of the room, each column standing 11 feet one inch above the floor, which is covered with cement. Their circumference is each nine feet six inches. They are slightly tapered at the top which is perfectly flat. The interior walls are perfectly plain, while the exterior is covered mosaic work, surrounded by large squared and sometimes incised sculptured stones.

The great group of which this is the principal building, was probably the ceremonial hall. The south group was probably that in which the final ceremonies attending the death of a chief, high priest, or other dignitary were performed. The remaining buildings were probably for the use of the visiting dignitaries and for the priests and officers who served Mictlan Tecuhtli, "The Lord of the Place of Death." The mounds on which the buildings now stand were covered with cream-white stones forming ample terraces about the buildings. The buildings themselves stood in the midst of the vast plain, brilliant crimson and white in the glaring sunlight. Entering the buildings one was plunged into almost absolute darkness. Here, midst the dim light of flickering torches were performed the mysterious rites attending the awful mystery of death among these people centuries before the conquest of Mexico by Cortez.

HOW TO BE FAT.

In the July Woman's Home Companion a woman contributor, who declines to sign her name, writes a practical little article entitled "How Not To Be Fat." She says that she began by noticing that stout people sleep too much. She gradually worked her alarm clock back from seven-thirty to six o'clock in the morning and put in the extra time exercising and bathing. Then she took up the habit of walking after breakfast. In ten weeks' time she found that she was losing flesh slowly—less than half a pound a week. Then she took up the problems of diet and exercise. Of these she writes in part as follows:

"The problem of diet was to me a difficult one—I was so fond of good things to eat, and I had seen dieting continue into nervous dyspepsia. I began by cutting down the liquids at meals—all the cold water I wanted before and after, but only one cup of tea or coffee.

"It was now four months since I had gone into training; and all at once I began to realize that I was not eating as much as formerly. My appetite was keen, but it took less to satisfy it. I kept to a mixed diet, but I limited myself to one starchy food and one sweet at a meal.

"Eating, sleeping bathing, working, playing—the last two remained to be dealt with. I would see what could be done in these lines. Work: there seemed no change practicable, except that I might work harder, and I did. But I am satisfied that the extra work had no bearing on by loss of weight, for I was never as tired at night as I used to be when I slept until half past seven and then rode down-town.

"As for my playtime, I joined a tennis club; and of all reducing exercises I can cheerfully recommend tennis as the quickest and most inevitable. The only trouble is, it might kill a really fat person; by the time I could play tennis, however, I was not so very fat! The fourth, fifth and sixth months, I lost eight pounds!"

In one year she lost twenty-five pounds and in the next five months took off three pounds more, bringing her down to normal weight or in fact two pounds less than what is called for by her height.

COFFEE CONSUMED IN 1913

Would Fill Seven-Inch Cylinder Higher That the Moon.

During the year 1913 the United States imported 852,529,498 pounds of coffee, having an entry value of nearly $105,000,000. To the average reader this may not appear very startling, but a little calculation will bring to mind the significance of these figures. One pound of finely ground coffee will make no less than three gallons of a reasonably strong beverage. Our 1913 imports, therefore made at least 2,557,500,000 gallons. A standard gallon contains 231 cubic inches, or, putting it a little differently, would fill a cylindrical coffee pot 7 inches in diameter and 6 inches high. The coffee imported in 1913 would, therefore, fill a cylinder 7 inches in diameter and 242,188 miles high. Could such a cylinder be erected, it would be necessary to take care not to build it in the direction of the moon's orbit around the earth, for that satellite's average distance from our planet being but 238,850 miles, it might knock off the top of our extended coffee pot some 3,338 miles. Were the cylinder flexible and the base well anchored, however, it might topple over and wrap itself nearly ten times around the earth at the equator. All of which is mentioned merely to show that we drink some coffee in this country.

Over two-thirds of the coffee consumed in the United States comes from Brazil. Our imports from that country in 1913 amounted to something over 625,000,000 pounds, having a value at the ports of entry of $73,650,430. It is no doubt owing to this fact that the Pan American Union at Washington, D. C., publishes in its latest descriptive pamphlet on Brazil an interesting sketch of coffee and its cultivation. In this account it is stated that coffee derives its name from the city of Kaffa, in Abyssinia, in which country it is believed that the coffee tree originated. Its botanical name is Coffea Arabica, because it was first cultivated in Arabia and exploited in its present day use. A natural coffee plant grows into a tree 14 to 18 feet high, having a long and slender trunk without limbs on the lower part. The plant has numerous thin roots growing deep into the earth, and one central or tap root going straight down and almost as long as the tree is high. When cultivated, however, the plant is generally not allowed to grow beyond 6 feet in poor and 8 feet in rich soil, in order to facilitate its cultivation and the gathering of the crop.

Healthy coffee trees produce in the axilla of each leaf, from 12 to 16 buds, which in flowering have an exquisite perfume. These flowers become dark and wither and fall off in two or three days, leaving groups of seeds on the small stems. These in turn grow into the coffee berries, which closely resemble dark red cherries. Each berry contains two seeds, growing face to face, and these are the coffee beans of commerce.

The plant flourishes best in well-watered regions, in a sub-tropical climate, at an elevation of 1,500 to 5,000 feet, and in a rich soil. All these elements are found to perfection in Brazil, especially in the four States of Sao Paulo, Rio de Janeiro, Espirito Santo, and Minas Geraes, whose combined areas cover about one-eighth of the vast domain of the republic. This section produces about four-fifths of the world's supply of coffee.

The practice of coffee drinking encountered for a long time the opposition of sovereigns and strait-laced society, partly on political, partly on religious grounds, but in spite of that, it made its way slowly across the Old World from Arabia, through Asia Minor, Northern Africa, and Turkey.

The first coffee house was opened in London in 1652, and about the same time Paris took up the habit. The first coffee grown in Europe was the result of experiments by French and Dutch botanists. The Dutch introduced it into Java, while the French brought it to the West Indies.

A Portuguese, Juao Alberto Castello Branco, is said to have planted the first coffee tree in Rio de Janeiro in 1760, and from this small beginning has developed the greatest industry of the country, for Brazil, thanks to climate, soil, and similar factors, has become the greatest coffee producer of the world.

ARMY AVIATOR REPORTING WHAT HE SAW IN FLIGHT ALONG MEXICAN LINE

El Paso, Tex., June 18.—Army preparations for war with Mexico have progressed among the American troops here and at other points along the border since the peace negotiations have been on. Army aviators have flown along most of the border and over into Mexican territory, and the air scouts have mapped out all the strategic points where it would be expected that the Mexicans would attempt to repulse the advance of the Americans.

LIGHTING THE PASSENGER TRAIN

How the Moving Train is Lighted by Electricity

The electrically lighted passenger train is no novelty on any first-class road but there are few passengers who can tell how the electric current is produced which keeps the electric lamps burning regardless of whether the train is in motion or not.

First-class passenger trains are not only lighted by electricity but the current has been adopted to drive electric fans during the hot summer months and, in one or two instances, it is also used in the kitchen of the dining car where the food is cooked over the invisible fires of electricity.

In lighting a passenger train provision must be made for supplying the current whether or not the train is in motion. To accomplish this a storage battery is generally installed in connection with the electrical generator. There are three systems in use for train lighting. The first is the straight storage system which consists of a storage battery large enough to store sufficient current for the needs of the train in route between terminals. Of course this storage battery has to be charged before each trip. The lamps are lighted by merely turning the switch which draws on the current stored in the battery.

In the second system a small generator, is geared or belted to the wheels of one of the cars. This generator supplies electricity directly to the lamps and also to an auxiliary storage battery which keeps the lamp burning when the train is standing in stations or yards. This system is rather more complicated than the first but has the added advantage that the storage battery does not have to be charged at the terminals.

In the third system a small generator driven by a Curtis steam turbine engine, which secures steam from the locomotive boiler, is used to supply the current. This tiny turbo-generator may be mounted on top of the locomotive boiler or in one corner of the baggage car. It takes up but very little room. A small storage battery is used in connection with this set so the cars may be lighted even if the locomotive is uncoupled and removed.

The advantage of electric lights for passenger trains are many. First of all they eliminate the dangerous gas tanks and gas lighting systems, and the old oil lamps, which usually set fire to the train in case of wreck. The electric lamps do not overheat the car during the warm days of summer and they do not vitiate the air of the coaches making traveling uncomfortable for want of good ventilation.

FOR FATHERLESS FAMILIES

Pensions Proved Practical by Thorough Test, It is Claimed—Widows' Worry Relieved.

New York, June 20.—After a practical test of the idea of widows' pensions, that is now being studied all over the country, leaders of the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor in this city today reported that they were willing to extend to 500 fatherless families the pension system that they have successfully applied to 50 cases during the last year. In spite of the opposition to State pensions of this sort that has been aroused among many organized charity experts, the workers of this oldest general relief body here assert that they "cannot let their theories and opinions as to the merits of one form of relief over another prevent the adoption of a programme whose purpose it is to put a stop to the incalculable social loss that is plainly written in the lives of a large number of women and children." If funds are forthcoming, it is planned to pension one widow with children in every hundred in Greater New York through the association's scientific system of visitors, nurses, doctors and dietitions.

Proper food, clothing and shelter must be assured as an "indispensable minimum" to widows with children, the experts of the A. I. C. P. declare in endorsing widows' pensions, while such mothers must never be made to work under conditions that break their health and strength or oblige them to neglect their children. It is popularly believed, they assert, that private relief has failed to adequately deal with all families deprived of their bread winner; and the danger of ceasing to do good for fear of making people dependent is cited against the opponents of this pension plan, which is expected to work on the benefit of the community, as similar support by free scholarships has done.

Sixty-five per cent of the total income of the 43 widows with 191 children now cared for by this method is regularly supplied in pensions from the funds of the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor, while 28 per cent is earned by the widows and children themselves in occupations that are not overtaxing and permit the mothers to remain at home. Contrary to the recently expressed opinion of other charitable experts that mothers should work away from home when home demands are not urgent and children may not require constant oversight, the A. I. C. P. workers declare that all children need oversight and their presence alone makes home demands urgent. That these children must not work beyond their strength and that their lives as well as those of their mothers must not be impoverished by making a livelihood, is insisted upon by this organization after its 70 years of experience and its more recent test of the practicability of pensions.

Beside the 43 fatherless families that are being pensioned, 431 widows with 1,572 children are being given less regular relief by this organization, which has contributed 24 per cent of their total income while the mothers and children have earned 67 per cent and only 9 per cent has been supplied by all other organizations. To pension all these widows and relieve them of the anxiety of their uncertain fight for life, is the project for which five times the funds required for their present pensioners are being sought by these workers, who believe they have proved the practicability of this idea.

"Not even temporarily can we longer allow widows to break down their health and the health of their children by allowing them to work long hours, with low wages and under severe physical strain," concludes the report of the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor, just issued from its headquarters at 105 East 22nd street. "We must make decided effort now, once and for all, to prevent this social calamity of broken down physique of women and even more of children; to give up the wretched delusion that a mother can earn the bread for and at the same time properly nurture and rear her children."

DO YOU PESTER YOUR CHILDREN.

In the July Woman's Home Companion Mary Heaton Vorse writes a most interesting contribution entitled "Adventures in Childhood," in which she tells many stories of the imaginative flights of children and makes many valuable practical suggestions. In the following passage taken from her article the author shows how some mothers pester their children:

"Some mothers, as soon as they come near their children, pounce on them and set about, as briskly as possible, making them good. Indeed, there are a great many mothers who spend all their time making their children over into different kinds of little children from the sort they were born. This is very hard on all of them, and the only thing that really happens is that the child grows a shell to keep his mother out, and grows up inside it in peace, but not nearly as nice and big as if he hadn't any shell at all—shells are cramping things at best.

"Not all parents do this, but there is hardly a parent living who does not greet his children with:

"'Good gracious, child, how dirty you are!' There are some babies who walk tremblingly forth into speech and the understanding of speech only to hear, 'Oh, what dirty little hands!' It must be quite a disappointment if you have been eagerly listening and listening to find out what your mother meant by the words she spoke.

"Indeed, if it were not for tooth brushes, soap, hair brushes, baths, and table manners, parents and children might often have a wonderful time getting to know each other; but these things stand between them until the children are as old as their mothers and fathers, and then generally it is too late. For when you've spent 15 years, or 12 years anyway, hardly being able to get at your parents except over a rampart of tooth brushes, and shoe blacking, the doors of communication get rather rusted from disuse. I often wonder children don't turn on us with:

"'Now, I don't want to hear you say "tooth brush" today,' or 'Any parent that speaks of hand-washing, or eating fast, have got to leave the table.'"

On the Deerlodge national forest in Montana one lookout station has the record of reporting accurately, by distance and direction, a fire that was sixty miles away.

With the Man in The Street

What Was the Cause—He's a very popular young man, with a host of friends, not all of whom are of the male persuasion, and he is up-to-the-minute in his manner of dress, his knowledge of current events and a practical acquaintance with the latest steps of the tango and the maxixe. Furthermore, he is well read, and has traveled extensively; is equally at home on Broadway, New York, or Front street, Wilmington; Atlantic City or Greenfield Park. All this explanation, it should be stated, is by way of getting the reader into a proper frame of mind to appreciate what follows.

This young man was standing on a downtown corner a few days ago, talking with a friend. The subject of the conversation, the friend states, was one of mutual interest, but not of such all-absorbing nature as to excuse what happened.

For, very calmly and like the veriest countryman on his first visit to a city, he foldled, sealed and stamped a letter he was carrying, reached up and attempted to mail it in a fire alarm box. The abrupt amusement of his companion was all that kept him from calling out Chief Schnibben and his men.

The temporary abberation, if it so may be termed, is causing the young man's friends some degree of uneasiness, though he has been perfectly normal in his actions since. They are inclined to put it down to the influence of a passing attack of a heart trouble common to young men in the spring time, and they are thereby much relieved.

Where Intuition Fails—Women possess, in matters where cold reasoning is of no avail, the ability to guess the solution of a given question much oftener than men. This ability is called feminine intuition, and it serves the sex in many instances with a remarkable accuracy.

But it is by no means infallible, and it almost always fails when it is asked to render a verdict dealing with the opposite sex. For a woman's judgment of a man, while not always incorrect, is not to be relied upon. The best of women often bestow their confidence and affection on men who are hardly worth hanging, and whose lack of character is generally known to their fellow men.

Man's judgment of man is best. As to whether a man's judgment of woman is better than that of her sisters, a lack of knowledge of the gentler sex prevents the Man in the Street from presuming to express an opinion.

The Little Man With the Big Voice—Courts of law have always held, for the darkey, an irresistable fascination, and no matter how trivial the case being tried, there are always to be seen in the court room an audience of negroes, listening to the speeches of the lawyers, the testimony of the witnesses and the expressions of the judge with a rapt attention that misses no detail.

And their comment on things legal, and other matters around the court rooms, is almost always original and amusing.

Not so long ago Herbert McClammy, Esq., whose voice is by no means proportioned to his physical stature, was one of the attorneys in a complimated civil case. The details were too dry dry and involved to be of interest to any laymen, but several negroes listened to it all in silent awe. At the close of Mr. McClammy's argument one of them leaned over and remarked in a stage whisper to his companion:

"Dat little man what talks so big sho kin make a powerful speech."

"He sho kin," agreed the other, admiringly.

Appreciation—Newspaper folk are just like other people and it does them good to know that their efforts to serve the public are appreciated by those who read their "stuff" in the daily paper. Too often it is the case, however, that those who find something they like in the paper keep it to themselves, but when they find something that is not in accordance with their ideas of the fitness of things do not fail to let it be known.

However, there are many people in Wilmington who do not belong to the latter class. This week, for instance, a well known citizen of this city stopped the Man in The Street to say how much he appreciated a certain article that had appeared in this paper. He meant it and because he did he wanted the newspaper man to know it.

The words of this man made the newspaper man feel better and he forgot about the kicks that had been registered against him for the mistakes he had made. He thought rather of the good that he can do and of the service that he would like to render. And he treasures that remark of interest as one of the rewards for work which he hopes was well done.

Watermelons—In the South the coming of the watermelon season is looked forward to with fond anticipation by most children and truth to say there are many grown-ups, who also like to eat them. In these modern days, however, it has become somewhat unfashionable to confess to a fondness for them. However, the people of the North still retain their love for a juicy melon and hundreds of carloads are shipped every year from the South.

There were many in Wilmington who were made glad the other day to get a view of this familiar friend and many spent their good money for a slice. The price is high now but a good crop is expected and in a short time they will be plentiful enough so that all can enjoy them.

The other day a Wilmington lady passing along the street with a companion spied several big ones in a shop window.

"My, but look at that!" said her companion. "Don't you wish you had one of those?"

"No," said the aristocratic lady with a scornful look. "Why, nobody eats them now except poor buckra and negroes."

"Well, I am not a negro, but I must confess to belonging in the poor buckra class for I like them very much," said the other lady.

That Moon Again—Someone with a penchant for poetry contributes the following, addressed to the Man in the Street, and signed with an interrogation point:

When the moon peeped in at the window,
Where you sat musing that night,
And bid you look at the beauty
Made visible by her great light.
Did you know that one of her moonbeams
Slipped shyly into your heart,
And made there a beautiful picture,
That would rival a master's art?
Did you know she touched your heartstrings,
And put them all in tune,
To play there, her grand sonata
In this merry month of June?

DEMAND FOR PUNISHMENT OF BURWELL'S MURDERER.

Former North Carolinian Killed on Mexican Soil Recently.

Relative to the murder of Mr. Weston Burwell, a young American engineer, near Tampico a few weeks ago, Monday's Washington Star contains a communication from a citizen of that city in which punishment is demanded for what is declared to have been a cruel murder. Burwell was a son of Mr. Henry H. Burwell, formerly of Henderson, N. C., and also a relative of Hon. and Mrs. John D. Bellamy, of this city.

The communication that appeared in the Washington paper is as follows:

"To the Editor:—All the harrowing details relative to the cruel murder of the young American constructing engineer, Mr. Weston Burwell, of Washington, D. C., whose body is being brought to this city for burial, have not yet come to light, but sufficient evidence is at hand to show that a most atrocious crime has been committed, one that calls for sure and swift punishment of its perpetrators.

"Believing it would be unsafe longer to remain in Mexico, where he had done considerable work in his line for the past eight years, Burwell resolved to return to the United States, and to the reunion of his family during this month at the paternal home, 622 Maryland avenue, northeast.

"Accompanied by a guide, he had not gone far from the scene of his last labors in the oil district near Tampico, before he was waylaid by some Federal troops, robbed of his money (about $1,600), which was divided between the two commanding officers, and he and his guide thrown into a small prison, where they were kept in close confinement, fed on bread and water for two weeks, at the end of which time they were taken out, their hands tied behind them, and forced to march with the troops.

"In Burwell's weakened condition, he was unable to endure the march. This so enraged the commanding officer that he ordered the young man's execution. A subordinate stole up behind him, and, without warning, he was murdered in cold blood. Stripping him of his clothing, the brutal executioners left him naked to the elements on the spot where he fell.

"Here his body was found and given burial by a detachment of the Constitutionalist army, after the fall of Tampico. This, in short, is the story of this foul murder, and if ever the bloody perpetrators of a dastardly deed should be brought to justice, these certainly should be. A crime is none the more heinous because of the number of victims involved. One victim calls for justice as much as do one hundred.

"During the Spanish-American war the cry was 'Remember the Maine,' and now the cry should be 'Remember the murder of Burwell.' This government should leave no stone unturned until the parties to this atrocious crime be summarily dealt with.

"That history may record, as it has of the Roman Republic, that to be one of her citizens means protection anywhere, no influence, however great, either civil, military, or otherwise, should for one moment be allowed to stand in the way of obtaining complete justice. No amount of money can ever atone for the wanton murder of a human being, but since the murder cannot be undone, let at least restitution to the bereaved family be made. This is a matter, of course, for the courts to settle, and no doubt if ever a stable government be established in Mexico a money indemnity will be asked for and granted. In the meantime let us not forget the cruel fate of Weston Burwell. The blood of the slain engineer cries aloud for vengeance, and no American citizen should rest content until this execrable crime be expiated on the gallows.

"JEROME B. BURKE."

Arthur Leslie

Creator of Sherlock Holmes In "Our Mutual Girl" Mystery

Sir ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE, Lady DOYLE, WILLIAM J. BURNS and DUNBAR, "The MAN of MYSTERY"....

The search for "Our Mutual Girl" is continued by the police, by "Kid Joseph" and his gang and by Dunbar, the "Man of Mystery." No definite clew to Margaret is found, though Dunbar finds her protege, Ada Taylor, and rescues her from the clutches of "Kid Joseph."

The rescue is made only after Dunbar has invaded the haunts of the gang and has been threatened by a thug, who draws a revolver, but is disarmed. Ada Taylor is taken safely to the home of Mrs. Knickerbocker, Margaret's aunt.

Dunbar sees in the daily papers that Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, creator of Sherlock Holmes, is to visit New York, and he decides to interest the English author in the search for the missing girl, feeling certain that Sir Arthur will be able to solve the mystery. He goes down the bay to meet Dr. Doyle on the Olympic and finds William J. Burns there on a similar mission. The three confer on the problem, and then Dunbar telephones to Mrs. Knickerbocker, "Your niece will be safe in your home within a week."

These incidents in the search for Margaret, including the interview with Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, may be seen by the public on and after June 15 in the coming chapter of "Our Mutual Girl" serial.

Mutual Movie In Which Poet Reunites Husband and Wife

SCENE from "JIM" — WIFE ASKS FORGIVENESS.

One of the American releases for June is a society drama in two reels called "Jim." It tells a story as old as civilization, but with a happy ending brought about in an unusual manner. The husband, James Brandon, kills his best friend after finding him in a compromising position with Mrs. Brandon. Husband and wife separate.

Later a poet gets the theme of a poem from the muses, and in the poem he writes he tells the story of the Brandons and pictures the wife's sorrow and her lonely life. The poem brings fame and fortune to the author. He meets the grieving wife and decides to try to reconcile her and her husband.

The poet has a camp in the wilderness, and he invites the husband to visit him there. Then he brings the wife to the camp, and husband and wife are again face to face. Explanations are unnecessary. Love again wins.

Screen Fashions

By Agnes Kessler.

Hats!

Probably all of us have seen pictures of our great-aunts and grandmothers in the days of their youth, with those quaint little flat hats which curved over at the sides and tipped sharply up at the back of the head?

Have you noticed how much the styles of the present day remind one of the quaint old-fashioned pictures we see and admire so much?

This revival is indeed an unexpected one. Only a year ago one would have scoffed at the idea of wearing a hat in any other manner except way down on the head covering eyes and ears. But now to look at all modish, girlies of any age must wear their hats way, way up on their heads Their pretty ears must show, as must their bright eyes, so there!

A whisper fro mParis tells me that straw hats will not be the favorites this summer. Yes, they are attractive—but they're not new! We've been wearing straw hats for ages and ages. So that for this summer, exclusive models of taffeta, satin and maline will be the rage. Heretofore, these materials have been reserved for the spring, but now they may be worn with good taste during the summer at the beaches, etc.

One stunning model was carried out in parchment white taffeta with Florentine blue picot-edged ribbon around the headsize and a wreath of tiny pompadour rosebuds encircling the crown inside the upstanding valance.

The crown, also of taffeta, was merely in the form of a little round cap, gathered to the headsize and encircled with the lower wreath. The doubled valance turned up sharply at the left side and across the back, but where it narrows across the right side it stood out from the crown. The ribbon was tied at the left side toward the back in an artistic bow-knot which was invisibly wired to give the desired effect.

It was worn by Miss Norma Phillips in a recent production of "Our Mutual Girl" series.

Have you seen "Lucile Love, the Girl of Mystery?"

If not, you've missed a great treat. For not only is the story one of intense interest, but in that picture one may see the most gorgeous creations to be had anywhere outside of the Paris salons.

Goat Spoils a Scene.

The other day a real goat butted into a rehearsal at the Majestic studio and spoiled a picture. It was "The Sheriff of Contention," which John O'Brien is producing. The most critical scene of all had just been painstakingly rehearsed many times over and Mr. O'Brien had set the camera man at work when Mr. Goat ran into the foreground of the picture and, jumping on to a table, let out a plaintive bleat at George Siegmann. The dramatic climax was instantly turned into burlesque. When the intruder had been rushed back to the studio corral the long suffering Mr. O'Brien was compelled to put the players through their parts a dozen times before they could sufficiently recover their gravity to recreate the dramatic atmosphere.

The State of Pennsylvania celebrates two arbor days each year—one for spring planting and one for the fall—in April and October respectively

MABEL NORMAND
KEYSTONE MUTUAL MOVIES

THE GIRL WHO DARES

Mabel Normand, the dare-devil of the movies, is one of the most, if not the most popular and well liked star in comic Filmdom.

Miss Normand, or Keystone Mabel, as she is perhaps better known, is not only a very beautiful woman, but an exceptionally clever one.

Her title, "The Dare Devil of the Movies," is a well earned one. For nowhere can one see the remarkable escapades, hairbreadth escapes, dare-devil rides (whether they be in an aeroplane or auto racer), in motion pictures, as are depicted by this screen favorite.

Her fame is world-wide. Even in far-off Australia Mabel Normand is as popular as with the movie fans of America.

One of her most remarkable accomplishments is the fact that even in the most rough and tumble parts this little dare-devil manages to retain her dainty, immaculate, spick and span appearance. Unquestionably, this is one of her many, many charms. She is a brunette with dark brown eyes, a fine athletic figure, and in every movement shows strength, vitality and the joy of riding. Every muscle is firm and her movements are as graceful and supple as a bird's. She swims as though water were made for her.

Miss Normand's versatility and remarkable daring, her brilliant beauty and her wonderful gift for the humorous make her one of the most fascinating actresses in pictures or even the legitimate.

Some think her power is due to a large extent to the extraordinary facility in facial expression.

That is probably one of the reasons why this remarkable little girl has reached the pinnacle of film success.

Some of the movie fans in Australia arranged to have her portrait hung in a conspicuous place in the Perth Institute Hall of Fame. The editor of one of the Railways Gazette, a man of note in his country, composed a beautiful poem most befitting to the beautiful Mabel. To say the least, this is going some, even for a moving picture actress! But then nothing could be too great for Mabel Normand!

For she is really a boon to human nature!

How many tired, wornout business men, how many tired mothers, weary after a day's toil, have been cheered by that cheeriest of cheerful comediennes, Mable Normand!

So that, if for no other reason, than the fact that she helps to make this happy world of ours happier by her merry antics and clever impersonations in the Keystone comedies, we ought to say "three cheers for Keystone Mabel, the dare-devil of the Movies."

It is almost impossible to speak of Miss Normand without mentioning her able partner, Mack Sennett.

They are, indeed, a happy, merry combination.

Mr. Sennett did the wisest thing ever by making Miss Normand his leading lady, for there you have the ideal combination.

In fact, the Keystone Company have a great deal to be proud of and we movie fans have lots to be thankful for, in having the good fortune of looking forward to seeing such wonderful pictures as are produced by the Keystone Company.

So, once again "three cheers for Mabel Normand, the merriest, jolliest dare-devil of the Movies."

Flashes On The Screen

"May we do your head in bronze? King Edward, President Wilson and Mark Twain are among those whose faces we have preserved to future generations."

So wrote an art company to Jack Warren Kerrigan, handsome of the Victor productions.

"Phew!" said the actor when he received the letter. "Some classy company I'm in, a monarch, a president and a humorist."

* * *

Herbert Rawlinson, leading man in Otis Turner's special feature company (Universal), not only looks to be ideal type of American manhood, but such is actually the case. Mr. Rawlinson is one of the most well known amateur athletes in Southern California. He has medals for swimming and rowing and has only recently acquired a biplane with no other motive in view than the outdoor sport it will afford.

* * *

Frank Cran, S. P. D. (Soft Pedal Director), experienced rather a difficult time in living up to his reputation while staging the two-part melodrama, "The Skull," just completed at the Imp Studio. Six fistic battles—more or less strenuous, and mostly more—are among the features of the play. Frank was the principal combatant in several of them; his opponent was a fellow twice his size. But Frank insists that he never yelled "time" once. Alexander Gaden and Dorothy Phillips enact the lead roles.

* * *

When the play, in two reels, will have been finished at the Imp studio, King Baggott will have established a record. King will have enacted every role, fourteen in all, from the coy heroine to the scheming villain. Naturally, there will be a wealth of double and even triple photographic effects. The play is from the pen of George Hall and is being produced by Mr. Baggott himself.

* * *

Lillian Gish, the beautiful blonde leading woman of the Majestic Company, believes in using every spare moment to the best possible advantage. She is an omnivorous reader, and a keen student of literature. Shakespeare and Tennyson are her favorite poets. Every morning when she leaves her home she carries a book or two under her arm. And while she awaits calls in her dressing room, or between scenes behind the stage, she is generally absorbed in reading. Miss Gish cares little for popular novels. She does not read for entertainment merely, but in order to study and think.

The director of the Eclair studio at Tucson, Arizona, has been on a still hunt for the last few days for forty bull snakes, a strange sort of property to be sure, but they are absolutely necessary to the filming of an O. Henry story entitled, "Wildcat Represents," which the Eclair players are making at the present time. In one scene of this picture, the leading character, "Wildcat" breaks up a lynching party by turning forty bull snakes loose among the "necktie party," and with his customary desire for true atmosphere and realism, the Eclair director will have nothing but the real article.

Miss Ethel Grandin, the "Imp" of the Imp Company, is to be seen shortly in the role of a female reporter. It is the lead in a two-reel melodrama, known as "The Reporter," now being produced by Ray Smallwood, director at the Imp studio.

Not a Bad Man But a Comedian

"TAMMANY" YOUNG of MUTUAL KOMIC FILMS.

This is William F. Young, known to newspaper men and sporting promoters all over the country as "Tammany" Young. He began his career as an office boy on the New York World and made good in that role. Then he became an actor and later joined the Reliance stock company, with which he has appeared in many Mutual Movies.

"Tammany" is versatile and resourceful. Five years ago he saw a girl in a laundry, and he liked her looks. He asked her to go to a show with him, and she refused. This made "Tammany" like her better than ever. His courtship progressed slowly for two years, but finally the girl (she was Miss Mae Gertrude Savage of 142 West Thirty-sixth street, New York) went to the theater to see her admirer act. This did not make her think any more of him, for he was playing the role of a "tough guy."

Approximately 750 acres on the Oregon national forest were planted with young trees this spring.

Owing to the physical condition of Mrs. Hand, who is charged with the murder of her brother, George P. Jordan, less than a month ago, Judge Cooke considered a bond of $2,500 sufficient to insure the woman's appearance at next term of Superior court. He accordingly ordered Mrs. Hand released from custody upon the filing of bond in that amount.

CARE AND FEEDING OF BABY IN SUMMER.

When a nursing baby has colic, vomits, has diarrhoea, constipation, or fails to gain, it is generally due to one of the following conditions: Too rapid or too frequent feeding; the milk is too fat or not in sufficient quantity; the child does not get enough fresh air; or perhaps it is rocked while being nursed, or shaken up immediately after nursing. Often the trouble is due to the mother's condition or way of living. She may eat too much or food that is indigestible, she may not get sufficient outdoor exercise; or she may be suffering from emotional disturbance. For all these conditions there is a remedy.

If the milk is too rich, an ounce of boiled water can be given before nursing, and the intervals between feedings should be lengthened to four hours. The four-hour feeding is especially indicated for babies who vomit or have colic; it gives the stomach a chance to rest, and the mother also gets more rest and freedom and consequently can furnish a better milk supply. Particular stress should be laid on regularity in nursing. A nursing baby should be trained from the start to take water from a bottle in case an emergency should arise.—Nan Dinneen, in Woman's World for July.

The Week Locally

That the Bible plainly teaches that there is both a Heaven and a hell, and that any other doctrine is contrary to the teaching of Christ on this important question, was the declaration of Rev. F. B. Clausen, on the theme, "A Glimpse Into the Future Life," at St. Paul's Lutheran church Sunday evening.

With an elaborate banquet in the dining room of the Seashore Hotel Wednesday evening at which there were 125 guests in attendance, the South Carolina Cottonseed Crushers' Association closed its annual convention at Wrightsville Beach after electing officers and hearing three most excellent addresses earlier in the day.

The completion by the American Light & Water Company of its contract for making the extensions to the sewerage system purchased by the city from the Wilmington Sewerage Company was officially reported to City Council at the weekly meeting by City Engineer Pillett. Slightly over 43 miles of additional mains have been laid, at a total cost of $172,298.64.

The Y. M. C. A. Beach Club was organized at a meeting held in the association building Monday evening, when temporary officers were elected, committees appointed and arrangements made to hold another meeting Thursday night, at which time the constitution was adopted and the reports of the various committees received.

In honor of their deceased comrades the Wilmington firemen held impressive memorial services at Dock Street Christian church Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Rev. G. T. Adams, pastor of Fifth Street Methodist church, delivered the address. The services were attended by practically all the firemen of the city and their families, together with a large number of their friends.

Delivering a talk to the prisoners in the county jail Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock, preaching a sermon on prison reform at the Brooklyn Baptist church at 11 o'clock and making a trip to the East Wilmington convict camp Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Rev. Sidney Love, secretary of the Carolina Prisoners' Aid Society and the State's leading advocate of prison reform, now here for ten days in the interest of his work, spent a busy day Sunday.

The morning service at Fifth Street Methodist church Sunday was given to the interest of the boys of the church, a special sermon being preached by the pastor, Rev. G. T. Adams, after which Mr. J. B. Huntington, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., made a short address. The boys had charge of the opening service, and occupied front seats. At the close of the service, six bright young fellows became members of the church.

The programme for the annual Fourth of July athletic meet to be held at Wrightsville Beach this year as usual has been completed, and the lists are now open for entries, which will be received at the Y. M. C. A. building up to July 3rd. The event is always one of interest to the athletes of the city and in addition furnishes entertainment for the hundreds of visitors to the beach on the National holiday.

The "House Warming" at the formal opening of the handsome new home of the Young Women's Christian Association, Monday evening, from 8 to 10 o'clock, proved to be a most delightful affair. Between 500 and 1,000 people called during the evening and all were pleasantly surprised to find that the home had been so neatly and so completely furnished. It was a revelation to many to learn what has been done in providing for the needs of the young women.

The contract for the construction of a modern concrete prison and workhouse on the county farm property was awarded by the County Commissioners Tuesday to Mr. A. D. O'Brien, a well known local contractor, the approximate cost of the structure to be $35,000, and the building to be completed by December 1st at the outside. Mr. O'Brien hopes, it is stated, to complete the building by November 1st, and is planning to begin work immediately.

With the criminal docket clear after a two day's session, a two weeks term of Superior Court which was convened Tuesday morning was adjourned last Wednesday afternoon by Judge Chas. M. Cooke, of Louisburg. The grand jury was not ready to make its report, and it was arranged for the body to report to Solicitor Homer L. Loyn next morning. The remarkable progress made at the Tuesday's session was continued Wednesday, and a large number of cases were disposed of, though for the most part these were comparatively unimportant cases.

MOTHER OF HER EIGHTEENTH

Rosiest Health Lot of Woman Of 38 With Census Record

(Pottstown Pa. Dispatch)

Fred Beahm, aged 40, a Pottstown iron puddler, and his wife, who is just 38, have set the pace in this section as boosters of Uncle Sam's census. A baby girl that the stork has just brought into their home makes the eighteenth birth in this family. Fourteen years ago triplets were born, but they died within a few days. Of the totad of 18 children 10 are living, the oldest being 21. Rosy-cheeked and altogether the picture of robust health. Mrs Beahm is happy and with her big brood of boys and girls is a splendid specimen of that type of American womanhood that would make Colonel Roosevelt smile his broadest.

Capt. Kendall, of the Empress of Ireland, was the first witness called at Quebec when the government began its investigation into the collision between the Empress and the Storstad, in the lower St. Lawrence river, with the loss of more than a thousand lives. Kendall limped to the witness stand still suffering from injuries he received in the disaster. Examination of witnesses was preceded by the introduction of brief summaries of the facts by counsel representing the owners of the two vessels.

Hupmobile

This Happens Often

Big corporation out West uses a "battery" of cars.
Tried one Hup. Threw out all the others; and made it all Hups.
Kept track of every cost—gasoline, oil, repairs, replacements—even deterioration.

Hup's One Cent a Mile

After six months they charged the Hup with a cent a mile deterioration.
The other cars had gone backward three times as much.
That was the last straw—the others went out and Hups came in.
This concern proved scientifically what every Hup owner knows by actual experience.
Hups don't grow old in the ordinary sense.
That's why they're worth more second hand.
Talk to your Hup dealer about this.

ABRAHAM SILVERSTEIN, LAYMAN IN BULGARIA, STARTS REVIVAL

Remarkable Story of Great Work of Consecrated Christian—Protestantism in Cuba—To Preserve China's Antiquities—Boy School in Africa—The New Japanese Premier—A Very Significant Letter—Growing Cotton in Siam—What One Christian Did.

By Ida Clyde Clarke

A remarkable story comes from Bulgaria, where for several weeks a most inspiring revival movement has been in progress at Sofia. Dr. Elmer E. Count writes that in all his Bulgaria experience he has never seen anything like these meetings in manifestation of God's presence. He says:

"Who is it that seems to be so wonderfully used of God in conducting these meetings? It is none less than Abraham Silverstein. This man is busily at work all day in the offices of the Balkan insurance company. At 6 o'clock he steals away into the corner of a cafe balcony and tries to think of the subject for the evening while sipping his cup of Turkish coffee. At 7 he goes to our gospel hall and there with a few that gather with him at this early hour, he spends sixty minutes in prayer on his knees. Then begins the meeting.

"The chief feature is not the music nor the testimonials, but Abraham Silverstein's earnest, searching talk. He calls forward to the altar all who show a desire to find Christ, and a group of us who are professed Christians gather about them and pray them through. It is an old fashioned Methodist altar service. We have been praying for such a manifestation for a long time, but this seems to be its first appearance in Bulgaria.

"At the close of the first week we took in some thirteen members on probation. The meetings continue every night until after 10 o'clock, often till after 11. One night it was 11:45 before it was possible to close the service.

"Two of our youths have recently felt the call to preach the gospel and will immediately prepare to carry out this plan.

"A striking feature in connection with the revival is the matter of confession of sins. This duty seems to be borne in on those seeking a baptism of the spirit or peace with God. Sins such as murder, burglary, adultery and others that I must be excused from citing were confessed. Every night several requests for prayers have rested so heavily upon souls."

Protestantism in Cuba.

There are eight Protestant denominations at work in Cuba, with one hundred and thirty pastors constantly preaching the gospel in over three hundred pulpits. These pastors have nearly two hundred assistants and lay preachers to help them, and seven hundred teachers in the Sunday schools give weekly Bible instruction to twelve thousand pupils.

Young peoples' societies flourish in many congregations. In about fifty boarding and day schools of the Protestant denominations, one hundred and sixty teachers come in daily contact with three thousand boys and girls. Some of the young men graduates from Protestant schools are now filling responsible positions in public and business life; others are preachers or teachers.

The American Bible Society has circulated nearly three hundred thousand copies of the scriptures in Cuba. Millions of tracts and pamphlets, and tens of thousands of good books have been distributed, sold and read. Five church papers filled with evangelical reading matter, reach several thousand readers every issue. Is it conceivable that all of these agencies pouring in their contributions to Cuban life shall labor in vain?

To Preserve China's Antiquities.

Foreign mission boards throughout the United States that are represented in the Republic of China, are greatly interested in a petition which is being circulated for the purpose of requesting that government action be taken to preserve antiquities in China now being destroyed by vandals. The board of foreign missions of the Methodist Episcopal church voted to join with other mission boards in signing this petition.

Boys' Schools in Africa.

Rev. A. W. Loewe, Metet, Africa, writes:

"Since I came to Metet I have started eight or nine new schools. Two of these are among the Fan people who belong to the Bebi tribe. All of the others are among the Beni tribes or Moita Moana. The visitation of these people is an important factor in our work.

"Late in December I took fourteen boys of our most advanced class to Yaunde to be examined. The result of this examination may be seen from what the official at Yaunde said to me: "Mr. L., you have fine lads in these. Could you let me have some?" This means a good deal. It made my heart rejoice. This year am working still harder to get some good into and out of the boys. We have 600 here in school. This is not quite as many as last time, seemingly, but in reality it is more.

"We need permanent schools in the towns so that a good part of the less advanced boys could attend there.

"This would take away a good many who would be in school here without being cared for in the right way. The station has allowed me to put these schools wherever needed.

"When I first came we had not very many Bene. Now it is far different. It is encouraging that the Bene people are starting to take some interest in our work. When the schools were first put in one could notice that most of the older people and many women were surprisingly unfriendly toward us and our teachers. During my last vacation I traveled 1,100 miles on my wheel to see all our schools, and I noticed a big change. The people come to the meetings and are very friendly.

"There is one place especially. The headman belongs to the Molta Moana tribe. He used to be and as far as the law allows it, is still the biggest chief in that part of the country. He has the biggest town I saw in Africa. He sternly refused when I told him I would put the school in his town and nowhere else. Now he is one of my best friends. He attends every meeting and whenever I am there he likes to speak to me about "What must I do in order to inherit eternal life?" We have 300 boys in school there.

"The work is growing, and that is enough to be thankful for. A few ups and downs are a good thing to keep us from falling asleep."

The New Japanese Premier

While the attention of the world is being focused upon Japan's new premier, Count Shigenobu Okuma, it is a great satisfaction to the friends of the Sunday school to know that this great Japanese statesman is also a warm friend of the Sunday school. Count Okuma, as is well known, is one of the Japanese promoters of the World's Sunday School convention in Tokyo, and has manifested the most lively interest in the cause.

Growing Cotton in Siam

For the last two years the ministry of agriculture has been attempting to revive cotton growing in Siam, and from reports it seems that cotton is to take a leading place among the exparts of the country. Besides encouraging the planting of a larger area, the government has shown interest in the enterprise by securing better seed for the planters, and by erecting an up-to-date ginning plant at Pitsanuloke.

This makes it possible for the growers to have product cleaned and packed ready for export on the spot. In this way the growers save their seeds, which formerly they were obliged to lose for lack of proper gins. That this encouragement is bringing the result desired is apparent from the report of the ministry of agriculture. From these reports we learn that some increased their areas as much as 59.9 per cent. The report goes on to state that the crops generally are doing well and prospects for the year are very bright.

What One Christian Did

One of the church members, quite a literary man, has written the life of Christ in choice Siamese language. He has had it printed at his own expense and now as a tract is distributing it freely to all the people. Thus the work is going on, when soul by soul the light is being kindled.

A great Need

The mission to lepers has an unmistakable claim upon the sympathy and help of the American people. Twenty-seven of the 80 stations caring for lepers are superintended by missionaries who have gone out from the United States to China, Japan, Korea, India, Burma, Siam and the Philippine Islands. Small beginnings have recently been made among the lepers in Africa and Persia, while given a share of consideration by the mission officers.

Up to the present time, contributions from America have not covered half of the expense for these twenty-seven stations alone, while the total amount expended by the mission to lepers on the foreign field for the past year was more than $130,000.

Items of Interest

A missionary in Urumsia, Persia, writes: A number of the Syrian boys with the help of certain ones who have learned trades in America and have returned here to engage in business, are struggling to start a Y. M. C. A. It is a real need, and we hope they will succeed.

In the fifty asylums maintained by the mission to lepers 4,000 lepers are cared for, and through the work 11,500 lepers are reached.

The continuation committee conference in Japan called attention to the urgent need of 121,000 savage aborigines in the island of Formosa who are still quite unreached by missionary effort.

Accumulated stocks of opium, valued at 8,000,000 pounds, remain at Shanghai and Hong Kong.

A language school for missionaries was recently opened for Bengoll at Calcutta and twenty-five students representing fifteen societies were enrolled.

The proportion of girls under instruction in India has risen during the last decade from 2.5 per cent to 5 per cent of the total population of girls of school-going age.

Dr. J. H. Oldham says: "The demoralizing and destructive liquor traffic, which is one of the most baneful results of the relations of Europe with Africa, continues to grow in volume year after year. The board of trade returns show that in British West Africa the importation of spirits has swollen from 4,705,898 gallons in 1906 to 6,835,188 gallons in 1912. In French West Africa there has been an increase from 3,600,200 litres in 1908 to 7,303,215 litres in 1912.

HIGH STEEPLE COMING DOWN

Spire Of Pennsylvania Church Four Feet Out Of Plumb

(York (Pa.) dispatch in Philadelphia Record)

Discovery that their steeple, 195 feet high, the tallest in the city, is leaning four feet out of plumb, the officers of St. John's Geman Lutheran Church recently began its removal. A Philadelphia steeplejack has the hadardous contract.

With the spire and a couple of stories of brick removed, the tower will be finished in Gothic style. The police have ordered the highway roped oc.

Ranchers within and adjacent to the Sierra national forest, California, have formed a co-operative association for the prevention of forest fires. They need to use fire in clearing land for farming, and will do it on a community basis, with all members present to prevent the fires spread.

MOSTLY CONTEMPLATIVE

By T. W. Chambliss.

What can a word do? It takes so little either to help or to hurt. It is only a word, but. The inspired writer in the Scriptures said aptly, "The tongue also is a little member." It is true and yet, "how much wood is kindled by how small a fire."

Years ago—4,000 years before Christ—it was written on an Egyptian Papyrus—"Guard thy speech before all things, for a man's ruin lies in his tongue." An old saying is, "The tongue that pleasant things will say."

In the world of words there are two kinds, the words that wound, words are blessing or curses.

"Kind words can never die." This is true and it is also true of unkind words. If in the day, there could be constant realization of the eternity of words. What is to be the influence of the spoken word? Will it be a joy-bringer? Will it be a poisoned dart leaving its sting in the heart. Keeping one's temper is the secret of life. More than this, keeping one's temper is the secret of giving others joy. Hasty words cause so much pain. Words spoken without due consideration. It is true that the one who speaks can ask pardon but the sting remains. The hurt has been made.

James said that out of the same mouth came blessing and cursing. So it is. It is true that words hurt and it is also true that words cheer. The kind word, how blessed its influence. "My lips are my own, but for the service of my brother, what can I say to help him? What message can I take to comfort him? What song can bring to cheer him? It is awful to bear false witness against a fellow creature, but oftentimes it is forgotten that we can bear false witness against other men by withholding the just word of praise as well as by uttering the unjust word of criticism, one may sin in not speaking the kind word of encouragment as well as in voicing the unkind word of discouragment.

So many men in this world are just pining for a kind word. Plenty to find fault, plenty to discourage, plenty to speak harshly, plenty to sneer. Oh so few to take the time to speak the word of cheer. That poor fellow who has made a mistake, made a host of mistakes maybe. He does now need a hand on his shoulder, the glance of a kindly eye, the breath from a loving heart, the word of cheer, encouragment, hope. That word may make him a man. Words have made men.

There is a story of Peter the Great. tI may be true. Anyway it has a great truth in it. Someone was criticising another man to Peter. He stopped to speak thus: "At any rate the man of whom you speak has his good qualities also, tell them to me, whatever you know about them, it is not difficult to throw mud over another. I would rather help everyone to keep his coat clean." The tendency to criticise or to speak words of slander is best overcome by cultivating a habit of charitable speech. If we cannot help a man, then keep silent about his weakness. Some people think, at least from their actions they appear to think that they are the great dispensers of information of their fellow-creatures.

Will Carleton so beautifully expressed the thought:

"That speech, it hadn't been gone half a minute before I saw the cold black poison in it;

"To have anly safely gotten it back in-door."

Words of slander fly with mighty winds. The Duchess of Fife has a scrap book of clippings which have appeared in the public press concerning her actions and the book is labeled, "Things We Never Did." Senator Depew is authority for the statement that Horace Greeley died of a broken heart caused by slanderous tongues. Sir Hector MacDonald of the British army committed suicide after serious charges were made against his character. A commission appointed investigated the charges found them false and in their report said: "We find that the late Sir Hector MacDonald has been cruelly assassinated by vile and slanderous tongues."

Often repeated is the story of the object lesson given by Phillip Neri to the self confessed slanderer. "Go to the market and buy a chicken and pluck out its feathers and throw them away as you return with it to me." She obeyed. "Now go back along the way and bring me the feathers you have scattered," was his next direction. "But that is impossible," she said "the wind has scattered them away, how can I recover them? "Just so with your words of slander," he replied, "they have been carried in every direction and you can never recall them."

Too much waste of words. To much talking anyway. Words are worth too much to be idly spoken. They that have to talk to hear themselves talk do not remember the work they are making for repentance, for there is to be a reckoning time every word spoken is to be answered for. "Put a seal upon your mouth and guard your heart with the same vigilance as the ramparts of a city." —Chinese proverb.

"O, many a shaft at random sent,
Finds mark the archer little meant;
And many a word at random spoken,
May soothe or wound a heart that's broken."

The New York state forest nurseries have a capacity of 28 million young trees a year.

THE GIRL GRADUATE.

Girl of my dreams, with the flower-sweet face,
Girl of my heart, with the gold-brown hair,
Gowned in the filmiest fabric and lace,ce,
Laden with blossoms, she's waiting there
Merry and eager to enter life's race.
Surely today there is none so fair,
Radiant and lovely, all willowy grace;
And watching, I breathe a prayer—

God, keep my little girl strongnd do,
God, keep my ittle gir stron and true.

Winged the years since that yesterday
Roseleafy, helpless, she clung to my hand,
Fairies bestowed her—and flitted away—
A wonderful gift from a wonderful land.
A thread of gold through a life all gray,
A jewel set in a gemless band,
Light of my life, little comrade gay,
Some day you will understand—

And with quivering heart you will whisper, too,
God, keep my little girl strong and true.

—Adele E. Shaw, in Southern Woman's Magazine.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson XIII.—Second Quarter, For June 28, 1914.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Heb. iv, 14 to v, 10. Quarterly Review—Golden Text, Luke xix, 10—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

Lesson I.—Christ's Table Talk, Luke xiv, 7-24. Golden Text, Luke xiv, 11. "Every one that exalteth himself shall be humbled, and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted"—a threefold message in the house of one of the chief Pharisees who had invited Him to eat bread on the Sabbath day; a message on humility for the guests, on recompense at the resurrection for the host and man's indifference to God's provision and invitation for one of the guests who spoke of the kingdom.

Lesson II.—The Journey to Emmaus, Luke xxiv, 13-35. Golden Text, Rom. viii, 34, "It is Christ Jesus that died—yea, rather, that was raised from the dead." Here we see the reality of Christ's resurrection body having the nail wounds in hands and feet, a tangible body of flesh and bones, that could be handled, that could walk and eat and also pass through unopened doors and vanish at pleasure.

Lesson III.—The Cost of Discipleship, Luke xiv, 25-35. Golden Text, Matt. xvi, 25, "Whosoever would save his life shall lose it, and whosoever shall lose his life for my sake shall find it." The difference between being a Christian and a disciple is very marked, the cost of our salvation falling wholly on Christ, but the cost of discipleship on the believer, salvation being a gift, but reward in proportion to service.

Lesson IV.—The Lost Sheep and the Lost Coin, Luke xv, 1-10. Golden Text, Luke xv, 10, "There is joy in the presence of the angels of God over one sinner that repenteth"—a threefold parable concerning the love of the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit. This lesson concerns the Son and the Spirit. The sinner's helplessness and proneness to stray is seen in the sheep, and his deadness in the piece of money.

Lesson V.—The Lost Son, Luke xv, 11-24. Golden Text, Luke xv, 18. "I will arise and go to my father and will say unto him, Father, I have sinned against heaven and in thy sight." That was not all he intended to say (verses 18, 19), but it was nearly all that he did say (verse 21). The father's welcome cut it short. The whole parable teaches us what God thinks of lost ones and how unwilling He is that any should perish.

Lesson VI.—The Unjust Steward, Luke xvi, 1-13. Golden Text, Luke xvi, 10, "He that is faithful in a very little is faithful also in much, and he that is unrighteous in a very little is unrighteous also in much." We are stewards of all that with which the Lord has intrusted us, whether it be the gospel or talents or time or money, and we are using it either for ourselves or for Him, for time or eternity.

Lesson VII.—The Rich Man and Lazarus, Luke xvi, 19-31. Golden Text, Prov. xxi, 13, "Whoso stoppeth his ears at the cry of the poor, he shall also cry, but shall not be heard." This is a story of the rich poor and the poor rich. The rich man lived only for himself and had no use for God or His word and no belief in a future till he found himself in torment.

Lesson VIII.—Unprofitable Servants. Luke xvii, 1-10. Golden Text, I Cor. i, 31, "He that glorieth, let him glory in the Lord." If we do only what seems to be our duty, what we think we ought to do, we are unprofitable, but when the love of Christ constraineth us and we are so occupied with Him and His kingdom and glory as to be above being offended with people or even with Himself, whatever He may do, we shall better glorify Him.

Lesson IX.—The Grateful Samaritan, xvii, 11-19. Golden Text, Luke xvii, 18, "Were there none found that returned to give glory to God save this stranger." We wrote on the Holy Spirit lesson in I Cor. ii, as well as on the leper lesson, and saw that all unbelievers as well as Israel are spiritually lepers and unclean, but when the Holy Spirit, who alone can convince of sin, shines in us by His word, then come cleansing and real gratitude.

Lesson X.—The Coming of the Kingdom, Luke xvii, 20-37. Golden Text, Luke xvii, 21, "Lo, the kingdom of God is within you"—more correctly, as in the margin, "among you." The kingdom which was at hand did not come as He said in Luke xix, 11, 12. The kingdom is postponed and will not come till He shall return in glory with His church, now being gathered.

Lesson XI.—The Friend of Sinners, Luke xviii, 9-14; xix, 1-10. Golden Text, Mark ii, 17, "I came not to call the righteous, but sinners." There is no Saviour nor salvation for such as think that they are good enough, but for such as the publican in the temple or Zaccheus, for poor or rich, there is abundant mercy and a welcome from Him who came to seek and to save the lost.

Lesson XII.—The Great Refusal. Mark x, 17-31. Golden Text, Luke xvi, 13, "Ye cannot serve God and mammon." The great contrast is between the empty helpless little children who came to His arms and were blessed and the rich young ruler, full of his riches and his own righteousness, who went away empty because he was not willing to be emptied.

Quick Action Getting The Blood in Order

There's Bounding, Pulsating Life in Every Drop of Great Remedy.

Let S. S. S. Hustle Impurities Outward.

Impurities lodge so deeply in the tissues that they cannot be reached by any ordinary method. Mercury and other dangerous mineral drugs may check a disease, but to get right down into where the blood is vitiated requires S. S. S., the greatest blood purifier known. Its action is pronounced.

In a very brief time S. S. S. has the reconstructive process so under control that remarkable changes are observed. All eruptive places heal, mysterious pains and aches have disappeared, and from head to foot there is conscious sensation of renewed health.

The extraordinary manner in which S. S. S. drives impurities out of the blood is due to its catalytic force in the blood cells, contains one ingredient, the active purpose of which is to stimulate the tissues to the healthy selection of its own essential nutriment and the medicinal elements of this matchless blood purifier are just as essential to well balanced-health as the nutritious elements of the meats, grains, fats and sugars of our daily food.

Not only this, but if from the presence of some disturbing poison there is a local or general interference of nutrition to cause boils, carbuncles, abscesses and kindred troubles, S. S. S. so directs the local cells that this poison is rejected and eliminated from their presence.

From the fact that S. S. S. is purely a botanical preparation, it is accepted by the weakest stomach and has great tonic influence. Not one drop of drugs or minerals is used in its preparation. Ask for S. S. S. and insist upon having it. And if you desire skillful advice upon any matter concerning the blood and skin write to The Swift Specific Co., 224 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Do not allow some zealous clerk to larrup the atmosphere in eloquence over something "Just as good" as S. S. S. Beware of all counterfeits.

Eye Glasses Should Go

Says New York Physician

Here is His Free Prescription

"Many who wear glasses could dispense with them. Only ordinary care is necessary. The eyes of old and young should be properly bathed night and morning. This is more important than cleansing teeth," says he and then he goes on to say:

"The following treatment is worthy of fullest confidence. It is scientific, immediately effective and positively harmless to the weakest of eyes. Go to any drug store, get a tube of Optona tablets, dissolve one in a two-ounce bottle of pure water and bathe the eyes two to four times daily. What is generally known as eye strain will soon be banished, while the muscles and nerves are permitted to perform their normal functions. It helps diseased eyes and it keeps good eyes healthy; it is absolutely harmless in every way; does not smart or burn, has a wonderful effect on granulated lids and is especially recommended for dull, blearry or glassy eyes. It helps all eyes and should be in every home for use in emergency."

The following extracts are from letters received from users of this prescription:

"I used Optona one week for a cold in my eyes; it did me a great deal of good."

"My eyes have been failing for years. I am sure Optona is doing them good and shall continue its use."

"Have only been using Optona a short time. My eyes are improving wonderfully."

"I find Optona very satisfactory and recommend it wherever I find an opportunity. I find it very soothing."

"I've been benefited by Optona and intend to follow the treatment."

"Have been using Optona for about three months and it has greatly improved my sight."

"My eyes have been sore for several years; were red and inflamed. Used everything recommended and gained no relief. I had my eyes examined and wore glasses for six months. I read of Optona and thought I would give it a trial. Am glad to be able to state I got satisfactory relief, and have not worn my glasses since. I feel my eyes do not require them."

Many others have made similar reports. If your eyes bother you, have the above prescription filled; it may do wonders for you. Do not become a victim of neglect. You perhaps value your eyes more than any other organ, therefore it's your duty to protect them. This free prescription has given relief to thousands.

FURTHER BREAK IN COTTON

There Was a Good Demand at the Decline and Prices Rallied a Few Points After Call.

New York, June 20.—There was a further sharp break in the cotton market today with December contracts selling off to 12.43. Favorable weather, improving crop accounts, weak cables and gloomy reports from mill centers seemed to inspire the selling movement which was active and more or less general. Closing prices were barely steady and from 8 to 15 points net lower.

The opening was steady at a decline of 3 to 6 points in sympathy with Liverpool and in response to overnight buying orders.

There was a good demand at the decline and prices allied a few points right after the call. The selling, however, seemed to be more urgent with bears more confident than at any previous time since the decline started and the market soon became weak and unsettled.

It was reported that members of the local trade who had left here a few days ago feeling bullish on crop and price prospects were sending in very favorable reports as to crop conditions in the Eastern belt and part of the local selling was attributed to these advices. It was also rumored that some of the larger Southern long interests were liquidating on the decline and a good many stop orders were uncovered as new crop positions broke below the 12 1-2 cent level.

Rallies of 7 or 8 points occurred after a break of some 10 to 17 points, but were not maintained and last prices were the lowest of the day on new crop deliveries. Leading spot interests were again good buyers of July but offerings of that position were heavier and the price broke to 12.60.

The selling here was doubtless promoted by the favorable weather outlook for over Sunday.

Cotton futures closed steady.

WEEKLY DRY GOODS REVIEW.

Trade Was More Quiet in Cotton Goods During the Week.

New York, June 20.—While trade was more quiet in cotton goods during the week, the market has held steady and jobbers are doing a good business in cloths for immediate shipment. This is particularly true of printed wash fabrics of a sheer character, the buying of which has reached proportions not touched in many years. Gray goods markets were quieter and there has been some easing in price on a few staple constructions. The finer yarn goods are showing more activity and larger sales could be made if wools accept current prices. Duck continues slow and heavy duck is easy. Some of the lighter weights are well conditioned. There has been a restoration of old prces on bleached cottons and branded goods are now well under order for delivery in the next sixty days.

Export trade continues dull and the shipments are declining. Ginghams are quiet. Prints are in moderate request. Brown sheetings and drills are irregular owing to the anxiety of some mills to press for late business at a time when jobbers do not care to obligate themselves on contracts. Curtailment of production yarn and cloth mill centers is bringing about scarcity that will be felt before the new cotton crop comes to hand. Prices on cloths are as follows: Print cloths, 28-inch, 64x64s, 3 3-4c, nominal; 64 by 60s, 3 1-2; 38 1-2inch, 64x64s, 5 3-16c; brown sheetings Southern standards, 8c; denims 9-ounce, 14c; tickings 8-ounce, 13 1-2; staple prints, 5 1-4c; staple ginghams, 6 1-4; dess ginghams, 9 3-4c.

THE DRY GOODS MARKET.

New York, June 20.—Cotton goods were steady today. Organdies, crepes and voils were being ordered for next year. Linens were in fair demand. Underwear and hosiery were offered at last year's prices or better. Burlaps were weak.

LIVERPOOL COTTON MARKET.

Liverpool, June 20.—Spot, easier. Good middling, 8.11; middling, 7.55; low middling, 7.00; sales, 3,000; speculation and export, 700. Receipts, 9,000.

Futures, quiet. June, 7.29. June-July, 7.10; July-August, 7.11; August-September, 6.96; October-November, 6.66½; December-January, 6.58; January-February, 6.57½; March-April, 6.59½.

FINANCIAL CONDITIONS FOR WEEK.

New York, June 20.—The statement of the actual condition of clearing house banks and trust companies for the week shows that they hold $35,589,250 reserve in excess of legal requirements. This is a decrease of $3,171,950 from last week.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON MARKET

Softness Developed in the Week-End Sessions and Prices Went Down Rapidly.

New Orleans, June 20.—Softness developed in the cotton market on the week-end sessions and prices were sent down to new low levels for the week and the present downard movement. Selling orders came from both sides of the market and were based partly on pessimistic trade accounts from foreign mill centers and partly on the continued improvement in reports from the cotton belt. At the lowest of the day July was 21 points under yesterday's last quotations while the new crops were 11 under. The close was steady at a loss of 9 to 19 points. Closing futures:

July 13.05; August 12.97; October 12.41; December 12.40; January 12.42; March 12.50.

Spot cotton quiet, unchanged; middling 13 13-16; sales on the spot 310; to arrive 110.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET.

Chicago, June 20.—Enlarged offers of new crop shipments from first hands resulted in a stampede of wheat speculators today to the selling side. In consequence the market closed weak, at ⅝ to ¾@⅞c under last night.

Corn wound up ¼@? to ⅜c. net higher; oats, off ¼ to ⅜c and provisions varying from unchanged figures to 10c. advance.

Grain and provisions closed:

Wheat—July, 82½; September 81¼.

CHEERFULNESS IN STOCKS

Exchange Again Dominated by Rock Island Re-Organization Plan as Announced Friday.

New York, June 20.—The Rock Island re-organization plan, announced after the close of business Friday, which, if carried to fruition promises to be the most complete financial overhauling ever projected in the annals of American railways, again dominated business today on the stock exchange. The securities of the original, or operating company, which are clearly to benefit under the terms of the new plan, made material gains, while the common and preferred shares of the Rock Island Company, one of the two holding companies which are to be wiped out, fell to new low records.

In the final dealings, the list under the lead of Union Pacific and United States Steel advanced to the highest level of the week. Trading, however, mainly represented the usual weekly settlement of contracts.

Sentiment was inclined towards great cheerfulness, despite indication of further delay in the handing down of the freight rate decision, the new angle in the Mexican situation and trade reports of an adverse character.

London and the continent offered little comfort to this market, the former inclining to irregularity with weakness and hesitation at Paris and Berlin. Private advices from Paris offered no definite hope of an abatement in the gold demand from this center.

The drain of gold from this port was again reflected in the weekly bank statement, which showed an actual cash loss of about $8,000,000, due entirely to that movement.

The bond market was steady with total sales, par value, of $1,590,000. Government bonds were unchanged on call during the week.

MUNSTERBERG ON SOCIALISM

Its Prophecies Have Been Proved Absolutely False, He Asserts

(From "Phychology and Social Sanity," by Hugo Munsterberg)

The history of Socialism has been a history of false prophecies. Socialism started with a sure conviction that under the conditions of modern industry the working class must be driven into worse and worse misery. In reality, the development has gone the oppisite way. There are endlessly more workingmen with a comfortable income than ever before. The prophets also knew surely that the wealth from manufacturing enterprises would be concentrated with fewer and fewer men, while history has taken the the opposite turn and has distributed the shares of the industrial companies into hundreds of thousands of hands. Other prophecies fortold the end of the small farmer, still others the uprooting of the middle class, others gave the date for the great crash: and every thing would have come out exactly as the prophets forsaw it, if they had not forgotten to consider many other factors in the social situation which gave to the events a very dicerent turn. But it may be acknowledge that the wrong prophesying was done not only by the Socialists but no less by the spectators.

OPPOSE NOMINATIONS FOR RESERVE BOARD

Letter from Wilson Sent to Members of Committee

Thomas D. Jones, of Chicago, is Particularly Commended by President in Letter to Chairman Owen—Investigation.

Washington, June 20.—Reports of opposition among members of the Senate banking and currency committee to some of President Wilson's nominations for the Federal Reserve Board today resulted in members of that committee receiving copies of a letter from the President to Chairman Owen particularly commending Thos. D. Jones, of Chicago, one of the nominees. In this letter the President declares he has been associated with Mr. Jones for 15 years and says Mr. Jones has won a place of esteem that is "enviable indeed."

One of the criticisms levelled at the Chicagoan is the fact that he is a director of the "Harvester Trust," now being sued under the Sherman anti-trust law by the Department of Justice. The President explains that Mr. Jones owns but one share of Harvester stock and that he became a director to thwart the acts which led to that suit.

In conclusion the President said:

"He is the one man of the whole number who was, in a peculiar sense, my personal choice."

Mr. Jones was the only one of the five men nominated to receive the written commendation of the President. Information concerning the other nominees in the possession of Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo reached the committee today. The President's letter and the data furnished by the treasury will be used in reaching conclusion, but it is possible that other information will be secured by members who are giving particular attention to these nominations.

BREACH IN REBEL RANKS WIDENING

fine his attitude and to have all the chiefs reiterate their loyalty to Carranza."

This appeal came today from Luis Cabrera, Constitutionalist adviser of Carranza, and at present conferring with Washington officials. It was dispatched to Roberto Pesqueira, Constitutionalist confidential agent and former Washington representative of the revolution.

Cabrera's message came at a time when agents of both the Carranza and Villa elements here admittedly were worried over the situation. The ejection by Carranza of Angeles as secretary of war, in the provisional cabinet had dispelled, in part, yesterday's predictions that the Carranza-Villa controversy had become a closed matter and that the divorce of certain relations between Carranza and Villa would not interfere with the actual progress of the revolution. Official efforts failed to find out the exact condition of the Carranza officials forcefully ejected from their office at Juarez.

Efforts to learn the disposition of the one million pesos in Constitutionalist currency, confiscated by Villa's military officials from the national treasury offices at Juarez also failed. Villa was reported as making all possible haste to move his troops to the attack of Zacatecas.

Reports from Niagara Falls that Villa had proclaimed Angeles for provisional president were not verified here. The Liberta consul here who had reported the rumor to the mediators, said he had it only by hearsay. The report that General Chao ousted by Villa as governor of Chihuahua, has been executed by Villa's order was not further credited by officials here. Chao is operating with his troops below Torreon, according to persons arriving from there.

Will Not Quit Fighting.

Saltillo, Mexico, June 20.—(Via Laredo, Texas, June 20.—Hostilities will not be suspended between the Constitutionalist forces and forces of Huerta, according to the note to the Niagara mediators which General Carranza will dispatch to them tomorrow. The mediators in their answer to the announcement by General Carranza that he was willing to send representatives to the conference insisted that an armistice be agreed to by the Constitutionalists.

After a long conference with his advisers General Carranza decided to deny that the request of the mediators could not be granted.

The text of the reply to the mediators was not made public as it has not yet been delivered to them. Eugenio Calderon, who was to have been one of the Carranza representatives was still here today.

Claim Federals Defeated.

Torreon, Hulla, Mexico, June 20.—According to official advices received today the Federals yesterday afternoon sustained a crushing defeat near Calera, a few miles north of Zacatecas. Five thousand Federals pursuing the retreating forces of General Natera, met the vanguard of General Villa's troops, advancing to renew the attack on the State capital.

The ensuing engagement resulted in a rout of the Federals, who were obliged to abandon their equipment and provisions. The Federals were reported to have lost heavily.

Would Not Have Job.

Mexico City, June 20.—Ondro Lascurain, ex-minister of foreign affairs, it was stated here tonight by some of his friends would under no circumstances accept the provisional presidency of Mexico. They declared that he is out of politics.

Headed for Washington.

Laredo, Texas, June 20.—Fernando Iglesias Calderon, Leopoldo Espinosa and Florido Berrda, prominent members of Venustiano Carranza's official family, passed through here tonight en route to Washington for consultation with the Constitutionalist representatives here. They refused to give an interview or to discuss their mission. Juan Breada and Fernandino Ramos, reported in the party, apparently were not with Calderon when he passed through here.

You can send a telegram to a man if you know his address—but you can send your message to him in a Want Ad. even if you know neither his name nor address and be practically certain that it will reach him.

Peculiar Case Now Pending Decision

CONCERNS THE APPOINTMENT OF RECEIVER FOR MAN'S VITAL ORGANS.

Washington, June 20.—A case unequalled in Supreme Court annals was docketed today when an appeal reached that tribunal from a Maryland court order directing appointment of a receiver for the vital organs of a dead man.

The case grows out of the fight over the million dollars insurance carried by Edward O. Painter, a capitalist of Jacksonville, Fla., when he fell overboard from a ferry boat at Jacksonville April 21st, 1913, and was drowned.

Painter was seized with violent vomiting and when he went to the rail of the boat, fell into the water. Upon recovery of his body his vital organs were sent by family physicians to Baltimore for examination. Dr. Charles Glasor, in whose custody they were placed, was enjoined by the United States Fidelity & Guaranty Company from turning the organs over to the widow and daughter for burial before this company, which had issued an accident policy to Painter, had an opportunity to examine them. At the instance of the insurance company a receiver then was appointed to take charge of the organs and to make a chemical examination on the ground that the insurance policy provision giving the company a right of examination, was superior to any property right the widow or daughter might have. It is for review of this decision that the case today was brought to the Supreme Court.

TRAGIC ACCIDENT TO AERIAL CRAFTS

slope of a hill. Almost at the same moment the wife of Lieut. Hofstetter, who had been married only a month, arrived in a car.

The envelope of the balloon still was burning when it struck the ground. Lieut. Flatz, when extricated from the wreckage of the aeroplane, showed faint signs of life, but almost immediately expired. The others were killed.

The occupants of both craft had been ordered to conduct themselves as they would in an actual combat.

According to some experts the catastrophe seemingly was caused by the aeroplane being caught in the eddies from the balloon. They attribute the accident to a species of whirlwind caused by the airship's propeller, which drew in the smaller machine.

Machinery Was Wrong.

The Austrian army has lost several of its most intrepid and experienced aviators by today's accident as well as its only dirigible.

The start of the dirigible was made without difficulty, but it is said shortly afterwards the spectators noticed that the balloon was not flying as well as usual, but was seemingly carried by the wind. Lieut. Flatz, who was attached to the navy, is reported also to have remarked that the machinery of the balloon was not in order.

Peasants who were near at hand report hearing despairing shrieks of the occupants of the gondola as the wreck of the balloon descended.

Assistance came speedily from all sides. Officers and men in automobiles hastened from Pischamend, but it was difficult to locate the spot until the pilot of an aeroplane made an ascent to reconnoiter.

The rescuers were horrified at the sight of the Koertling.

Nothing remained but a twisted mass of half melted metal framework in which the bodies were inextricably entangled. Just beside it lay the aeroplane completely wrecked with the bodies of the officers firmly lashed in. The motor of the aeroplane had stopped and was buried deep in the ground, while the dirigible motor continued in motion.

Identification of the victims was difficult.

So fierce had been the flames that all watches and rings were completely melted, but singularly, the pocketbooks of Hofsetter and Bruer were almost intact.

Lieut. Bachner, who was to have made the trip, arrived too late to do so. Another similarly fortunate man was Fireman Gaiswinkler, who was called back just as he was entering the gondola.

More Needed.

Common sense would do a lot more good if it were common.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.
